SAFETY DIRECTOR NOT NAMED

Several Men Mentioned as Contenders for Office.

City council at its meeting Monday night will discuss the Burkhardt-Goebel case, according to information obtained from reliable source Saturday.

The discussion, it is understood, will be brought up by Councilman Tarvin. It is not impossible, one member of council said, that the body will recommend reinstatement of the two former police sergeants.

The two former police sergeants are about to submit a petition recommending reinstatement, signed by every member of the jury which acquitted them recently, to Mayor Burkhardt.

FOUR MEN MENTIONED

According to report the most favored contender for the office is a lawyer, a former fireman, a former mayor and a newspaper man. The mayor has been asked concerning the probability of the appointment of any one of these four, but he refuses to commit himself.

HARDINGS ON CRUISE

UNITY WILL 'PUT IT OVER,' DAVIS SAYS

Labor Secretary Brings Harmony Message to Unveiling of Harding Bust

CURE FOR UNREST

Ceremonies Held at Niles, Ohio—Other Prominent Men Deliver Addresses

NILES, Ohio.—"Organize and work in harmony." This is the message delivered to employers and employees by James J. Davis, secretary of labor, speaking at the unveiling of a bust of President Harding in the McKinley Memorial here Saturday.

Recalling the fact that more than 20 years ago he had worked as a puddler in a Niles steel mill, Mr. Davis said:

"My message to you is organize and work in harmony. Stop fighting and trying to put something over on each other. Stop advocating the doctrine of hatred for each other. You employees, call your employer the greatest employer in the world. And likewise let the employer frankly say of his men that they are the greatest workmen in the world. By working together we will sell the world America's products. That is the only acceptable way of putting it over."

UNVEILING CEREMONIES

Impressive ceremonies marked the unveiling of a bronze bust of the president. From a platform in front of the Memorial addresses were made by Davis, Secretary of Labor, and Vice-President Coolidge, Governor Harry L. Davis, Ohio, and Congressman John C. Cooper, Youngstown.

The bust of the president, veiled by a large American flag, stood at the entrance to the Pergola, the large marble statue of the late President McKinley forming an impressive background. Following the address by the vice-president, Mrs. J. D. Wadsworth, wife of the president of the Niles Chamber of Commerce, pulled the cord that released the flag and revealed the life-like bust of the president of the people.

The bust, later, will be removed to its pedestal in the court of honor, between those of David Todd, former governor of Ohio, and Cornelius N. Bliss, former secretary of the interior. On the marble pedestal is this inscription:

"Warren G. Harding, born Corsica, Ohio, November 2, 1885, twenty-third president of the United States, elected November 2, 1920. Previous to the ceremonies, about two thousand members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, school children, fraternal, civic and patriotic organizations marched in review."

WEDDING UNITES BIG FORTUNES

Ogden Armour's Daughter Becomes J. J. Mitchell's Bride.

LAKE FOREST, Ill.—Efforts to hold a "cottage" wedding in a palace failed here late Saturday. Miss Lolita Armour, daughter of the multi-millionaire packer, and John J. Mitchell, Jr., son of the nation's leading financier, were married at the Melody Farm, the vast estate of the Armours.

Mrs. Ogden Armour and her daughter did their best to keep the ceremony a quiet, simple affair, but the gorgeous Louis XVI room, a long hall of Italian marble, carpeted with jade green, could only furnish the background of an elaborate wedding.

Happiest Woman In Lima Mother Helped By Fund

Contributions Closed as List Is Near Goal—$485.75 Given

(By the Editor)

Further subscriptions to the fund for the worthy Lima mother to allow her to keep her babe when it is born are not needed. The goal was set at $500. Subscriptions to date total $485.75, so near the amount needed that the News believes the list should be closed.

Subscriptions to this fund clearly demonstrate the big-heartedness of Lima citizens and those of surrounding territory. Considerable money has been received from outside Lima. The little mother will keep her babe, which would have been adopted out to strangers at birth had not the citizens come to her aid.

To say she is the happiest woman in Lima today probably would not be an exaggeration. The News received a letter from her yesterday in which she said:

"Tongue cannot express the gratitude I feel for the people who have helped me keep the little babe I am yet to see. A few days ago I felt my heart would break, but today it is as light as it was heavy then. Will you kindly give my heartfelt thanks to those who have so freely given?"

The News also desires to express thanks to those who have contributed. This newspaper believes that those who have given will be interested in this case and an effort will be made to keep donors informed from time to time during the period she is taken care of by this fund.

Every cent of the money contributed will be used for the welfare of the mother and child. There has not been a penny of expense in connection with it. The money has been deposited in the American Bank, which institution will hold it in trust and pay the monthly budget agreed upon by Mrs. Irene Mills Jackson, head of the home service of the Red Cross. It is believed that the fund is sufficient to care for the mother until she is able to work and make her way.

DRY CHIEFS CLASH AT CAPITAL

Leaders in Row Over the New Volstead Bill.

(BET W. WALKER.) WASHINGTON.—Dry congressmen and prohibition workers Saturday night were fighting among themselves over Representative Volstead's latest prohibition proposal, his supplement to the original Volstead law.

Wayne B. Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon League and E. C. Dinwiddie, formerly connected with the League, but now with other reform organizations, clashed in hearings before the house rules committee Saturday.

Dinwiddie, aiding with leading chemists and industrial alcohol manufacturers of the country in their position that the additional restrictions placed upon their interests by the Volstead bill should not be rushed thru congress under a flag name.

This aroused Wheeler, who in a formal statement, said: "Mr. Dinwiddie has not been connected with the Anti-Saloon League for more than a year and in assuming to protect certain phases of the trade, he is unwittingly protecting the illegal traffic."

MAY SEPARATE BILL

The house rules committee probably will demand that Volstead separate his bill and rush thru congress only that section prohibiting prescription of beer as medicine. This has angered Representative Volstead and he charged before the rules committee that Chairman Campbell, Kansas, who has always supported prohibition, was endeavoring to delay his bill.

Representatives of the chemical and industrial alcohol industries, told the committee that sections three and four of the bill threaten their legitimate business with destruction. It was pointed out that industrial alcohol is used in many manufactured products, one representative stating that his concern consumed three million gallons a year. The large amount of industrial alcohol in the country was a big asset during the war, it was stated, since it was used in the manufacture of gun cotton, smokeless powder, poison gas and other products.

LOVE AFFAIR REVEALED IN KABER CASE

Cala Knows Man Infatuated with Victim's Wife. His Confession Says

SIX ARE INDICTED

Two Men Added to List Charged with Murder of Publisher

CLEVELAND.—Two more first degree murder indictments in connection with the murder of Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood, Ohio, publisher, were returned by the Cuyahoga grand jury late Saturday. This makes a total of six people who have been indicted as a result of the slaying of Kaber in July, 1919.

The indictments returned Saturday night were against Salvatore Cala, confessed murderer of Kaber, and Vectors Piselli, named by Cala as the man who actually wielded the stillie with which Kaber was stabbed 24 times.

Cala, who is held in Buffalo, pending extradition, made a complete confession, detailing how the murder was planned and executed. Piselli has not yet been captured. A nation-wide search was going on Saturday night for him. Cleveland police are confident that he will be taken into custody shortly.

ADDS TO CONFESSION

Cala Saturday added to the confession made to District Attorney Guy B. Moore, that he took part in the killing of Daniel F. Kaber at Lakewood two years ago.

Cala said that when he and his co-conspirators, the Kaber home, to commit the murder, he could hear women in a room adjoining the room where the victim was stabbed to death.

Cala said he did not know Mrs. Kaber, all his dealings having been with the woman's fortune teller. He added that he was slightly acquainted with a man who, he believed, was infatuated with Mrs. Kaber.

"I am ready for the electric chair," Cala said. "My only fear is about the future of my wife and children after I am dead. In the last two years my hair has turned gray from worry. I am glad I was caught."

MRS. KABER TALKS

Cala told Buffalo authorities he would waive extradition. He probably will be brought back to Cleveland on Monday.

Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, widow of the slain publisher, and who is charged, wanted Kaber killed, Saturday night issued the following statement regarding Cala's arrest:

"I am glad he is arrested. His statement does not interest me very much at this time and I have nothing to say about it. The truth will come out in the end and I do not fear my approaching trial."

MURDER CASE MAY BE DISMISSED

Mrs. Orthwein's Lawyer To Demand This Action of Judge.

CHICAGO.—Attorneys for Mrs. Cora Orthwein, charged with the murder of Herbert P. Zeigler, will ask the court to throw the murder case out of court, it was announced here Saturday night.

"All the state's witnesses have been our best evidence," said Ben Short, Mrs. Orthwein's lawyer. "There is no use going on. I will appeal to the court Monday."

The state rested its case late Saturday, and the defense will start Monday unless the judge grants the request of Short.

"I am confident that I will be acquitted," said Mrs. Orthwein, Saturday. "The state's trump cards are jokers."

The state has been attempting to prove that Mrs. Orthwein killed Zeigler because she was jealous of other women. Mrs. Orthwein said she did it in self-defense.

The defendant plans to take the stand and tell her story.

FIGHT ON GOMPERS BRINGS TURMOIL

$100,000 Reported in Lewis Fund at Convention.

BITTERNESS IS INCREASED

Campaign to Defeat Labor Chief Comes into Open.

(By J. L. O'SULLIVAN)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—The fight for leadership in American labor took the center of the stage Saturday night at the convention of the American Federation of Labor. The bitter controversy between the forces backing the veteran leader, Samuel Gompers, for re-election as president, and those urging the candidacy of John L. Lewis, bids fair to hold the spotlight during the remainder of the convention.

The clash, which has been stirring quietly during the last few months, came into the open Saturday when publication of rumors that a campaign fund of $100,000 was being used to further Lewis' candidacy. These rumors have been circulated through the convention.

Publication of the rumors which are not substantiated in any way by positive information, has thrown the entire convention into turmoil. Lewis' candidacy, which has been smoldering, has burst into full flame. At a conference of his backers, it was definitely decided to place Lewis' name before the convention as a candidate in case Lewis can retain the support which already has been pledged.

BITTERNESS INCREASED

Printing of the story caused increased bitterness among the Lewis faction. They accused the Gompers faction of deliberately circulating the rumor of the campaign fund to injure the candidacy of the president of the United Mine Workers. This was denied by Gompers' supporters.

They declared the story of the $100,000 fund originated from personal close to Lewis when first heard at the convention. A conference of those supporting Lewis' candidacy was held enroute to Colorado Springs from Denver Saturday. The delegates came to Colorado Springs for a day's outing.

LEWIS MEN CLAIMS

In checking over the votes pledged to Lewis, his supporters claim they have found a sufficient number to insure Lewis' election. A careful canvass of the main voting strength of the convention, however, showed that this was doubtful. Lewis probably will be unable to gain the backing of the Farrington faction of his own union. Several other leading union representatives, who were claimed for Lewis, declared they would stick with Gompers.

The main hope of the Lewis faction is that it will be able to gain sufficient strength to force Gompers to announce his retirement from active leadership in the labor organization.

There is no question but what Lewis' candidacy has developed rapidly during the last two days. William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers of America, is one of the leading workers in behalf of Lewis. If Lewis should be chosen president of the national federation, Green probably would succeed him as head of the miners' organization.

CHANGES IN CHIEFS ARE ANNOUNCED

Commanders of Atlantic and Pacific Fleets Replaced with New Men

SHIPS MOVE NEXT

Action Taken to Strengthen West Coast Defense—Delicate Situation Hinted

(BY A. L. BRADFORD)

WASHINGTON.—A reorganization of the United States navy, involving a probable change in naval policy will be announced next week, it was stated officially Saturday night.

The statement followed the first actual reorganization step taken Saturday when commanders for the two major fleets in both the Atlantic and Pacific were announced along with the statement that there would soon be a redistribution of ships.

CHANGES IN COMMANDERS

Vice Admiral H. P. Jones was assigned Saturday to command the Atlantic fleet with the rank of admiral. He will succeed Admiral H. B. Wilson, who will lower his flag on June 30 to assume command of the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Rear Admiral E. W. Eberle, now commanding a battleship division in the Atlantic fleet, was named as fleet with the rank of admiral. He will succeed Admiral Hugh Rodman, who will be assigned to command the naval operating base at Hampton Roads, Va.

PROBABLE NEW POLICY

The change in policy expected is that a main battleship fleet of the American navy is to be created in the Pacific.

Secretary Denby, it is known, sometime ago decided on strengthening the Pacific fleet if not immediately putting the main American fleet on the west coast. He recommended this to President Harding, because of the delicate international situation involved. Harding referred the question to Secretary of State Hughes. Whether Hughes approved the step or not is not known. The contention of Secretary Denby and of high officials of the navy, it is understood, is that the proposed creation of the main fleet in the Pacific is not a warning to Japan, but is only following out sound naval policy.

WORKING AGREEMENT

The change in American naval policy is linked with the naval policies of Great Britain and Japan. If a main American fleet is created in the Pacific, this brings up the question of a possible working agreement between the United States and England to police the waters of the world. The British navy to take the Atlantic and the American navy the Pacific. President Harding has given attention to this question.

Great Britain has been studying the question of creating a battleship fleet in the Pacific for her dominions on that ocean, but if the plans of the American navy are carried out her's may be abandoned.

GUNS FOR MEXICO MADE IN DANZIG

Source of Supply Found by League of Nations.

GENEVA.—The league of nations discovered Saturday that a munitions factory in Danzig is secretly turning out an order for 10,000 rifles for Mexico.

After long debate, it was decided that the league cannot interfere with delivery of weapons to Mexico, but orders were issued that no more war materials shall be manufactured in Danzig.

General Haking, the league's new high commissioner at Danzig, reported to the league that he had found the factory secretly engaged in turning out the guns. The weapons are to be delivered within a month, he said.

The league previously had ordered the factory not to accept an offer for 50,000 rifles ordered by the government of Peru. The high commissioner had instructed the owners of the factory to confine its work to the manufacture of sewing machines, bicycles and other peace-time goods. Professor Nob, superintendent of the factory and President Sahm of the Danzig senate, appeared before league representatives to plead their case. They said the employment situation was serious and that cancelling of the orders would throw a thousand workmen out of a job.

CITY BROKE BUT BUDGET HIGH

Budgets for Last Half Ask for $300,000 for Operation.

AMOUNTS MUST BE PAID

Debt of $100,000 Already Contracted By Municipality.

With a treasury as bare as Mother Hubbard's, the city's financial condition is being exposed by the city's budget for the last half of the fiscal year. The budget, which is being submitted to the city council, shows a deficit of $300,000 for the last half of the year. The deficit is caused by the city's obligations for the last half of the year, which are $300,000 more than the city's income for the same period.

Not all of the estimates have been filed, but the total of the budget for the last half of the year is $300,000. The budget for the last half of the year is $300,000 more than the city's income for the same period. The deficit is caused by the city's obligations for the last half of the year, which are $300,000 more than the city's income for the same period.

WHAT DEPARTMENTS ASK
Requests from the various departments on file are:
Water works budget, $119,997.75
Market house, 2,056.00
Service Director, 57,397.00
Safe Director, 73,390.00
Health Department, 10,045.00
Election Board, 2,077,913.75
Total, $2,677,913.75

The above amount does not include all appropriations which will be asked for, according to Auditor Rupert. The missing budgets had not been filed with him Saturday.

One item yet to come in will be the salary of Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt, $12,000 for the last half of the year.

According to the city's financial condition, this amount is for operation and maintenance only. It includes no public improvement program.

Lima is already more than $100,000 in arrears for money expended for operation and maintenance last year. Deficiency bonds to cover this have been issued, and were included in the $1,000,000 worth of bonds, in 11 issues that cannot be sold. Of this amount, $24,000 worth were sold to the industrial commission, by Auditor Rupert. Proceeds from the sale have not been available because the sale had to be approved by Attorney General Price.

In the meantime, the city has been raising funds by voting certificates of indebtedness, to run six months at six per cent.

SALE IS APPROVED
Saturday Auditor Rupert received word that the sale has been approved, and the $24,000 will soon be available. None of the other issues have been sold.

The application asked by the service department, which includes the city's office, includes some of the following items:
Salary of Mayor, $12,000
Salary of City Clerk, $5,000
Lighting, $1,000
Of this amount, $10,000 is for electric lights and $1,000 for gas lights. For janitor hire at the city hall $876.14.

Repair of streets, estimated at $7,500, and cure and maintenance of Fairport Park $2,500.
That council will be forced to trim request to the bare, is admitted by city officials, but each department head wants the one which is in some department other than his own.

Blame for the city's financial stricken condition, and inability to raise funds asked for by city officials to failure of county commissioners to re-approve city property.

WOMAN MAKES DRAMATIC DENIAL OF MURDER
DETROIT.—Dramatic denial of the charge that she killed six-year old Max Ernest, with whose father she had quarreled over a real estate transaction, was made Saturday by Mrs. Elizabeth Lewen, who took the stand in her own defense.

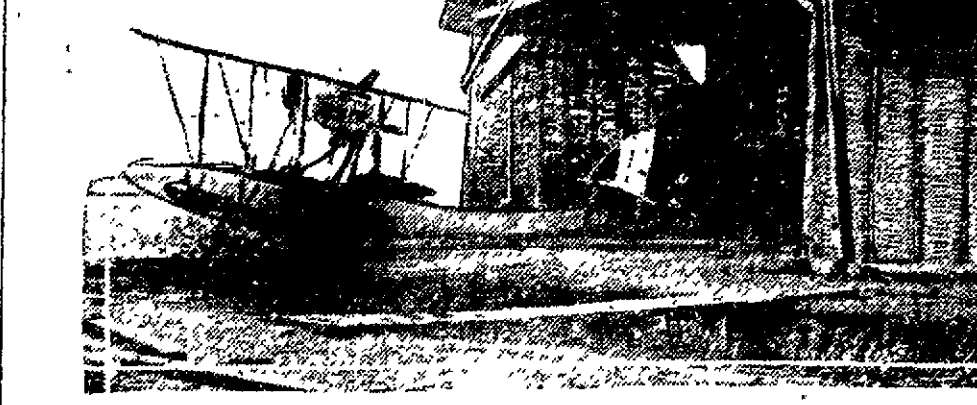

"I could not do such a thing; every woman in this room knows I couldn't; I couldn't do it any more than that man's wife could," she cried, pointing at Prosecutor Vorhies.

Mrs. Lewen sobbed frequently and several times became hysterical. She finally became so excited a recess was taken.

NORMAL SCHOOL TO CONTINUE

Increased Appropriation From State Aids Teacher Training.

BOARD TO CONSIDER TRUANCY

New Law Provides for County Truant Officer.

Continuation of the county normal school during the next school year was decided upon by the Allen-co. board of education at a meeting held Saturday. This school will be operated in connection with the Lima city school system.

An increase in the amount received from the state for the operation of this normal training will be in effect next year. The sum of $1,500 on the salary of the normal school director and $1,000 on the salary of the assistant director has been provided by the state under the new apportionment. This is $1,000 more than was received last year.

Last year 22 students were enrolled in the normal school. Already ten from the county system have signified their intention of attending next year's classes. Should a similar increase be seen in the number entering the profession from the city schools a class of around 30 may be enrolled. Under a new ruling the graduates from this course will be allowed a full year's credit on a normal course at any of the state normal schools.

ACTION ON TRUANCY
At the next meeting of the board, to be held July 9, the question of a county truant officer will be considered. This is a feature of the new school law and is for the purpose of cutting truancy to a minimum. Under the old system each district handled this problem in their own way and considerable laxity was seen. Many truant officers were hindered in the enforcement of the law by the attitude of parents within the district. It is believed that a county officer would be free from any interference and would be able to compel absolute enforcement of the law on school attendance.

BRITAIN, FRANCE PLAN DIVISION

Program for Controlling Continental Affairs Considered

PARIS.—France and England were believed Saturday night to be determining on a division of power in controlling continental affairs. That was the interpretation of the meeting here of Paul Curzon of Great Britain, and Premier Briand of France, who are standing side by side in the smiling statement Saturday at the conclusion of a conference, that "we have not yet found a method of regulating the Graeco-Turkish conflict." It was believed that comparatively little time was spent in discussing these affairs. It is known that there is little difference of opinion on the Near Eastern situation. Curzon was said to have proposed that the allies attempt arbitration between Greece and Turkey. He said he believed it possible to obtain concessions from each side, making certain a settlement in which allied interests in the Dardanelles region will not be endangered.

Briand was said to have regarded the proposition favorably. That disposed, it was believed, the two turned to the important matter of who shall take the lead in continental affairs. Observers here are inclined to the belief that Britain is somewhat jealous of France's independence in recent decisions and afraid that the republic may try to fly out of the British political orbit.

The radio agency, frequently inspired by the Briand government, declared Saturday that the British representative had proposed letting France have her way in settling the Upper Silesian dispute, which would mean that Poland would obtain the greater part of the territory. If Great Britain were given a free hand elsewhere on the continent.

DESPOUND WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE

DAYTON.—Mrs. Bettie Ellen Undercast, wife of William M. Undercast, aged 33, was found dead in bed Saturday afternoon, a suicide.

Despondency because of her physical condition caused her to shoot herself thru the left breast with a small caliber gun, during the absence of her husband, who was at work at the time.

ENGINEER TO RECOMMEND CLEANING OUT OF RIVER CHANNEL BELOW BRIDGE

The result of the survey of the Ottawa river below the Erie railroad bridge will be embodied in a report to be submitted to the council Monday night by City Engineer Vaughn Miller. He will recommend cleaning the old channel as means of ridding the water of sewage and refuse.

Levels were made by surveyors from the engineering department Friday. Their findings, according to Miller's report will show that at the bridge the river bed is practically level. Below it dips off to considerable depth, and then rises again to practically the same level as at the bridge. It follows this elevation for several hundred yards before there is sufficient fall to create a current.

It will be inadvisable, it is stated, to dredge the river below the bridge, unless the channel is excavated for a distance of nearly one mile. Even if this were done, according to Engineer Miller, little relief will be obtained upstream, the point where it is needed.

BISHOP HERE FOR SERVICE TODAY

Former Lima Pastor to Celebrate Mass at St. John's.

Bishop August J. Schwertner, former pastor of St. John's Catholic church, will celebrate pontifical mass at St. John's Sunday at 10 o'clock. The occasion will be a joyous occasion for both former priest and people.

Bishop Schwertner arrived in Lima Saturday afternoon and is being entertained at St. John's rectory by Rev. Father Leonard Plunians, pastor. He will remain in Lima until Sunday afternoon, when he will return to Toledo.

Since his elevation as bishop on June 8, Bishop Schwertner has celebrated but two pontifical masses. The one was on last Sunday at the home of his childhood in Canton. He comes to Lima Sunday to act in a like capacity for the church which he served so well for some years.

He will celebrate no more masses before leaving for Wichita to serve as bishop.

Bishop Schwertner will be given a warm welcome on Sunday. The Rev. Father Sossong, who is one of the officers of the mass, was former assistant pastor at St. John's.

AMUNDSEN, FAMOUS ARTIC EXPLORER, REACHES NOME

SEATTLE.—Roland Amundsen has reached civilization again after a winter of hardship. This was the word received here Saturday from Nome, Alaska, where Amundsen and his party were brought by Captain Pederson of the trading schooner "Herman" belonging to the H. Laeche Company of San Francisco.

A dispatch from Nome Saturday morning from Captain Pederson flashed the news that Amundsen's latest expedition has met with total defeat and that the perished explorer was leaving Nome for Seattle on the first boat.

DIES IN BATHTUB

Ohioan Electrocuted as He Turns on Light Bulb.

ALLIANCE, O.—Ralph Henry, 21, was electrocuted here Saturday when an electric current passed thru his body as he turned on a light bulb while standing in a bathtub. Henry had prepared to take a bath. His sister, Mrs. Frank Hillgreen, heard his cries for help and rushed to the room. She found him standing in the bathtub with one hand clasping the light bulb.

As Mrs. Hillgreen turned off the current her brother fell into his arms dead. Heroic efforts on the part of two physicians failed to revive him.

Physicians say the force of the current was intensified by the fact that the man was standing in water.

Henry was employed as a hammerman at the Transue-Williams Steel Company plant.

SAMUEL BRESSLER DIES
Samuel Marion Bressler, 73, of 1033 E. High-st., died at the City Hospital Saturday night following an operation performed Friday. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Henry Stevenson, Lima, one son, Griffith Bressler, Allentown, one sister, Katherine Stevens, Middlepoint and four brothers, William, John and Daniel of Lima and Henry of Lafayette. No funeral arrangements have been made.

GARBAGE PROBLEM MAY BE SOLVED

Council to Consider Matter at Its Meeting Monday.

CONDITION IS NOW SERIOUS

City Has No Satisfactory Disposal System at Present.

Council may solve Lima's garbage disposal problem Monday night, and then again it may not, was the opinion expressed by Mayor F. A. Burkhardt Saturday. The question will come up in some form, he stated.

A new proposal will be brought before council by a concern which desires to build an incinerating plant for the city and burn all of the refuse.

The franchise and safety committee to whom propositions submitted by the Michigan-Ohio. Nu-fuel company and the Troy Wagon company were referred at the last meeting will probably hand in some report. As the proposition of the Troy Wagon company relates only to hauling, the two other propositions are in reality the only ones which council will consider as methods of disposal.

That council must take action in the matter in the near future is evident, as the problem of getting rid of refuse from homes has become acute with advent of hot weather, it is said.

Since Dr. J. J. Suttler, county health officer, stopped dumping of garbage outside the city limits, many men engaged in this work have ceased operations.

As a result residents must either bury or burn refuse, feed it to poultry, or wait until someone comes to haul it away. Sometimes a long wait ensues. It is claimed and garbage in the cans soon.

In absence of some efficient method of disposal, nothing can be done to alleviate this situation.

155,000 BRANDED AS DESERTERS

War Department To Open Drive Against Draft Evaders.

WASHINGTON.—The war department is disappointed that more arrests are not being made of draft evaders, Major General Peter C. Harris told the United Press Saturday night.

So far more than 50,000 names of slackers have been published throughout the country. Comparatively few of them have been arrested, due, Harris said, to the fact that the war department has not the necessary funds to offer the proposed reward of $50 for the apprehension of every deserter.

General Harris is in charge of the drive of the war department to bring to final justice the approximate number of 155,000 men who are charged with being willful draft deserters.

"Of these more than 50,000 names," Harris said, "only 44 to date have been received because of being erroneously included in the draft deserter lists."

Harris said that the country had been "stampeded" by unfounded reports of large numbers of men wrongfully charged with draft desertion until the people had lost confidence with the method of the war department is using in exposing deserters.

This is unwarranted, Harris said. He said he was pleased with the way the war department's plans are working out.

PLOT CHARGE AGAINST MURPHY DISMISSED

NEW YORK.—Supreme Court Justice Wagner today dismissed indictments charging conspiracy against Charles F. Murphy, Tammany Hall chieftain; Arthur J. Baldwin, Ernest B. Wolden, John A. McGowan, Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith and the Cora Products Refining Company.

The indictments grew out of the so-called glucose case and a suit for ten million dollars brought against Murphy and the refining company by Louis N. Hartzog.

TIME IS CHANGED.
Changes in the schedule of the B. & O. afternoon tier north will take effect Sunday, June 13. Instead of leaving here at 4:25 as has been its custom, it will leave at 4:05 and will reach Toledo at 5:55. It will connect with the "Resort Special" at Toledo for Michigan summer resorts along the Pora Marquette. This is the only train on the B. & O. which the time change will affect.

PHONE RATES MAY BE INCREASED

New Schedule to Be Filed By Lima Company

ALL CITY SERVICE AFFECTED

Manager Gives Reasons For Requested Boost.

Telephone rates in Lima will be increased 25 cents to $1 a month, according to the class of service rendered if a new rate schedule to be filed tomorrow with the Public Utilities Commission by the Lima Telephone and Telegraph company is allowed.

George H. McNeaney, manager of the company, announced yesterday that the new schedule will be filed. He said the action is necessary because of existing conditions under which the company is unable to make a profit.

McNeaney said that telephone labor, which was never paid on a basis with other similar labor, now is receiving pay which compares favorably with some work, but below other lines. There can be no reduction in wages, he said.

Stockholders of the company, he said, have not been receiving returns sufficient to attract capital. The new rates are compiled to return 7 per cent, he declared, which would attract money and allow the company to operate on a satisfactory basis.

While there has been a reduction in material prices, McNeaney said this was of little advantage to his company in that little material which has fallen in price is required by the company. He said the appliances which are needed in the maintenance of service have been out only a small amount.

McNeaney called attention to the class of service being given here, which, he says, is cheaper than that of any city of the same size or larger in the state.

GENERAL STRIKE IN BRITAIN - THREATENED

LONDON.—London again faced the prospect of a general strike Saturday night.

Striking miners gave warning they would seek to enlist other unions in their fight.

The miners' executive council, which had been in touch with the government for several days, suddenly adjourned indefinitely this morning, thus cutting off an opportunity for further negotiations.

Frank Hodges, secretary of the miners' union, issued a statement declaring that the executive of other unions, now engaged in wage disputes would be asked to confer with the miners "with the object of taking national action to secure our mutual demands."

MEN HELD IN MEXICAN PLOT ORDERED RELEASED

MEXICO CITY.—The superior court Saturday ordered the release of several persons recently arrested on charges of complicity in the Ana revolution plot.

The release was made on an appeal against government officials. President Obregon being mentioned in the petition. He expressed surprise that he had been named, since the matter had been handled entirely by local authorities.

Unconfirmed reports were received from the Yucatan, stating that a reign of terror exists there because of the depredations by bands of outlaws and of serious conditions also reported in Campeche, Chiapas and Tabasco.

Something Entirely New A Brassiere

That will instantly appeal to every woman of heavy bust or full diaphragm and rolls of flesh on shoulder and under arm.

This wonderful new garment, worn over the corset, instantly corrects the bad lines given stout figures by the crowding of the flesh of the upper figure, greatly improving the appearance and poise and noticeably reducing the size.

The result is achieved by the entirely new design of the models, which hooks in the back, and with cleverly adjusted lacings molds the flesh into natural lines, gives a firm support to the bust, lengthens the waist, drops the flesh of shoulder and under arm and flattens the diaphragm completely, doing away with that square, heavy appearance and rigid carriage, so fatal to full figures, with absolute comfort.

Our corsetieres will take great pleasure in explaining their merits and fitting them correctly.

PETS' PARADISE IN KANSAS CITY

10 Dogs, 40 cats, Cared for by Jacobs Family

TAKES HALF OF INCOME

Animals Have Interesting Histories; Some Tragedy

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (By Associated Press) — Would you be willing to give more than half of your modest income to make life less rigorous for neglected or suffering animals?

Such is the sacrifice being made by Miss Sarah and H. B. Jacobs of Kansas City, Kansas, across the river from here. And it is no mere passing hobby—they have been doing it for the last quarter century. The Jacobs' home—ten dogs, two score cats unselfish work.

There are many pets in the Jacobs' home—ten dogs, two score cats and two parrots. The care of these pets, however, represents only a minor part of the activities of the Jacobs. Both are officers in the Wyandotte-Humane Society and labor incessantly to benefit animal life thru that source. With all this the Jacobs are not unmindful of the needs of unfortunate children, and even adults of their city, as they are active in the Associated Charities.

HUMAN INTEREST STORIES

Most of the pets in the Jacobs' home have been brought there by persons who had found them suffering in the streets or were too poor to look after them. Many carry a story of human interest, with sometimes a tragedy.

There is Cinderella, who had been brutally wounded. The Jacobs decided to chloroform the animal to relieve its intense suffering. Finally it struggled over to the open fireplace and curled up in the warm ashes. Soon it showed signs of rallying and they concluded it should live. It did recover. The incident strongly reminded them of the fairy story of the little girl sitting in the ashes and who later was able to wear the glass slipper, and the spotted hound became Cinderella.

Little Topsy once was owned by a woman of the streets whose precarious existence did not permit her to care for the pet. She brought Topsy to the Jacobs and up to the time of the woman's death she regularly came to visit the dog.

CAT SAVES LIFE

Miss Jacobs told of a cat that saved their lives. A leaky gas jet had filled the house with fumes which they slept. The cat crawled in vain and finally leaped upon the bed and scratched Miss Jacobs to a waking position and a realization of their danger.

Yarrow, a cat with an interesting career, was named after Mary Craig Yarrow, a noted humane worker of Philadelphia. This cat once was a companion of a little boy. The boy died and on the night of his funeral the animal was carried away and locked in a freight car bound for Arkansas. A fortnight later the cat returned home nearly starved. The boy's mother took it to the Jacobs' home.

ELKS' MARDI GRAS OPENS JUNE 28

Chippewa Falls to Hold Big Historical Pageant

CHIPPWEA FALLS, Wis.—This small town is going to tackle a big proposition and its citizens will tell you now that what they are going to put over will be a howling success. Chippewa Falls is to be the scene of the Elks' Mardi Gras and Historical Pageant, scheduled for the week of June 28-July 4.

There was some trepidation when the Elks of Chippewa Falls embarked on this undertaking, for never before did a small city tackle anything of such major-league proportions. Chippewa Falls was admonished that it was an undertaking commensurate only with the facilities to be afforded by such cities as Milwaukee and Chicago. But the little municipality on the banks of the Chippewa River had made up its mind, and the delegates brought home the favorable decision. The river town has been preparing for the festival of the Elks for many months, and everything is reported in readiness. Facilities have been found to make comfortable the Elks who travel hither from the furthest point on the map.

The Elks' Mardi Gras and Historical Pageant, which will begin here in the last week of June, will depict the birth early struggles and steady growth of the Wisconsin city on the Chippewa River; will show the days when white pine was the sun and center of the lumberjacks, the later experiments in agriculture and dairying and the final triumph that have put Wisconsin in the limelight as a State of great farm and dairy possibilities and achievements.

A. L. Putnam, R. B. Clark and W. P. Cruise are members of the executive committee which will have the Mardi Gras and Historical Pageant under its direction. William F. Kirk, noted writer and Elks, is also an official of the Wisconsin gathering of his tribesmen. Miss Vera Barrington, a beautiful Chippewa Falls girl, is a candidate for Queen of the Elks' Carnival.

THOUSANDS TO ATTEND

Thousands of Elks are expected to attend the Mardi Gras and Historical Pageant in a few weeks. Invitations have been broadcast to the many Elks' lodges throughout the United States and Canada.

Interviews— Ideas and Fancies

IRA F. OLDM, clerk of court: "While we are suffering from the heat, just think about the crops. The warm sunshine and the fine rain of Saturday will put them way ahead. We can suffer a little, when it means a big yield of crops and a good harvest in the end."

THE REV. A. D. WELTY, Superintendent of the Lima Rescue Home: "Every day there comes to us boys we know are not fakers, who have served their country in the world war. They left good jobs and were in perfect health when they offered their services to Uncle Sam. Now they are broken in health and can find no employment. We never turn one away from the Rescue Home. But we do feel there should be some provision made for these worthy soldiers."

JOHN B. KEPHART, deputy in probate court office: "I feel more and more every day there should be enacted strict laws for medical examination of persons who wish to be married. They should not be examined only as to health, but their mental, physical and educational side should be looked into. It would not only raise the standard of marriage, but the standard of humanity and tend for better childhood."

DR. J. J. SUTTER, County health commissioner: "From 12 to 20 percent of all babies born in the United States die during the first year of their lives and the majority of these die during the summer months. The babies food, home and surroundings play a big part in its health. Every mother should nurse her baby if possible. The baby should be fed at regular intervals but not too often. A daily bath is a necessity as is also plenty of sleep in a well ventilated room. Clothing must not be too heavy and the baby should be kept away from crowds. Plenty of fresh water should be given the baby and the family physician should give it a thorough examination at least once a month."

WOOL PRODUCTION LOW IN OHIO

Dropped 8,000 Pounds in Last Few Years.

COLUMBUS—Altho Ohio wool is regarded as the best produced in the country, the wool and sheep industry of the state gradually has been declining for years, a statement from the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Saturday said.

During the last year, Ohio has had 2,800,000 sheep, a drop from a high point of 3,500,000 a few years ago, according to the statement. Wool production in the state has dropped accordingly, it was said. At the peak, more than 20,000,000 pounds were produced, but production this year will not be more than 12,000,000 or 14,000,000 pounds.

Ohio's wool pool, according to the statement, was the only one in the United States that sold out last year. It handled 3,000,000 pounds, and sold the wool at practically 40 cents a pound.

Cooperative selling, it is declared, will tend to revive the industry to some extent. More money will be brought to the farmer that way, but the statement asserted, the consumer would not pay increased prices. Sheep and wool men of the state also are in favor of the truth-in-fabrics bill and of restrictions on importations of foreign wools and shoddy.

The Ohio Sheep and Wool Association is affiliated with the Ohio Farm Bureau Association, and co-operating with it, but it maintains its own commodity identity. In order to act as a selling agency for producers, it has formed the Ohio Sheep and Wool Association Company.

BONUS IS OPPOSED BY U. S. C. OF C.

Favors Legislation for Needs of Ex-Servicemen, However.

WASHINGTON — The United States Chamber of Commerce Saturday night came out against a cash bonus for service men.

A brief sent to President Harding and hundreds of trade and commercial organizations declared that the war had laid a mortgage of $1,135 on every family in the United States and that a cash bonus would only add to the burden.

At the time the brief made it clear that the organization is actively in favor of "national legislation to meet adequately the needs of hospitalized veterans and for constructive measures to enable ex-service men to cultivate the soil, to build homes or to obtain vocational training."

It was pointed out that the government has already authorized the expenditure of $1,135,000,000 for soldier relief and in addition $900,000,000 for war risk liability insurance. Economic rehabilitation is seriously interfered with by the excess of government expenditures over revenues and the paramount consideration is to conserve resources and lessen the burden of taxation, the brief stated.

AIRSHIPS TO MAKE BOMBING TESTS

Will Attempt to Destroy Battleships and Submarines

FIRST TRIAL WITH U-117

Experiments to be Conducted off Virginia Coast

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va. — (By Associated Press) — The claim of air craft advocates that battleships no longer form the nation's chief weapon of defense will be brought to a test next week off the Virginia Capes. Armed with bombs of every size, flocks of army and navy air ships will seek in a series of tests to destroy more than half a dozen former German warships and to find and bomb the radio-controlled battleship Iowa.

In preparation for the tests the army has concentrated at Langley Field, near here, the largest mobilization of military aircraft in the history of aviation in this country.

NAVAL ORBAT

At the Hampton Roads station the naval aircraft are mobilized, including a number of seaplanes, the N-C-4 type, the class that negotiated the first trans-Atlantic flight.

At Langley Field a number of marine corps, Martin bombers and DH-4's are gathered to operate with the naval planes during the tests. The first test, slated against the U-117, a modern submarine used by the German navy during the war, the submersible will be anchored in an awash condition with concentric red, white and blue circles painted on its deck to distinguish it as the target and avoid the possibility of a mistake.

After the attack by the naval air detachment if the army flyers will take off from Langley Field. The flight commanders choose without any restrictions as to attitude or speed.

It is expected that by the time the 47 aircraft engaged in the test have dropped their 128 bombs the U-117 will have disappeared beneath the surface of the water but should the vessel still be afloat it will be made the target of the gun's of a division of the destroyers on the following day, along with the former German submarines, U-140, U-111 and UB-48.

KNITTING PLANT HERE PLANNED

Stockholders See Work of New Machine at Meeting.

Stockholders of the Universal Knitting Machine Co. were given a chance to see some of the work done by the machine manufactured by their company at the special stockholders' meeting held at the Hotel Norval.

This company, which is an Ohio corporation with headquarters in Lima, is the owner of the patent on a machine which knits form-fitting underwear. It is one of the few machines which can do this kind of work and is one of the most successful on the market today, according to J. E. Sullivan, president of the company. Wastage of materials and manufacture of seconds is cut down to a minimum, it is said.

It was decided at the meeting to go ahead with the expansion program outlined by the officers of the company. The manufacture of knitted machines has been expanded at the Grand Rapids, Mich., plant and the knitting plants may be opened in various cities throughout the country. It was stated that a plant may be opened later in Lima.

JAP POLICE BELIEVE VISITING YANKS ARE SPIES

TOKIO.—(By International News Service).—Fear by the Japanese police in Tokio that certain Americans in Tokio are here first for business, but secondly for investigation and observation of military activities of the Japanese, caused an "urgent meeting" of the Metropolitan Police Bureau in Tokio recently.

According to the Tokio Asahi (Sun): come to this country recently for business, touring and sight-seeing (alleged) are busily engaged in investigating the industrial and military conditions of Japan. They are acting with the knowledge of all Americans in Japan.

"The attention of the authorities has been called to the very large number of Americans who visited Japan last year, and of them entrusted with special 'missions.' Some of these Americans established themselves in China and Korea and have been active in using wireless apparatus to keep in constant touch with each other. The authorities have detected these activities thru the activity of Americans in places contiguous to Japan."

The Asahi's report continues, stating that greater surveillance over the Americans in Tokio must be exercised by the police. The report of the Tokio newspaper was confirmed as substantially correct by Mr. Hara, Secretary to the Office of Foreign Affairs of the Metropolitan Police Department.

are discussed. George L. Stoughton of Westerville, thinks he is a regular and having held chairs in the league, but against him it is urged that his connection with the league is too close. Still, why should that matter? Who ever found fault with the Republicanism of the Anti-Saloon League headquarters?

With all the prohibition, committee air going on, Senator Willis found himself in a good strong position to fight the appointment of Charles H. Nauts, of Toledo, as internal revenue collector. While the last reports indicate he has things sewed up this may be only until he gets what he wants in other places. One never can tell about such things. That he was preparing to take a fall out of the Harding administration was well known in Columbus long before the formal news came from Washington. In this center of intelligence, it is explained that Senator Willis thought the people voted for him last fall instead of voting war dissatisfaction and a myriad other grievances. From another standpoint, it is urged that President Warren G. Harding has too many personal representatives on the scene. Messrs. Willis, H. M. Daugherty and Walter F. Brown, the personal representative generally brings trouble, it is said, and three well three, will be sure to do so. The trouble is arbitrating among them will be nearly as keen as arbitrating among the number who want the offices.

Some one rises to inquire what has become of the flock of candidates for the United States Senate to succeed Alton Pomeroy who were being hatched out of the Republican nest. There is not the intense feeling about it there was a few weeks ago. Whether this has been due to the letters that young Lehr Press, of Yellow Springs, who is at the payroll list of his father, Congressman S. D. Fess, wrote out here from Washington to the effect that the storied father heard the call of the people to go up higher, or whether it is due to other causes. One of the other causes is the admitted strength of Senator Pomeroy. They say that frankness in speech is a frightful liability, but the Senator says just what he means and somehow, people respect him as a gentleman and patriot. If Mr. Fess gets into the game and takes himself out of the Seventh District, what say will reign there. It will give State Senator Frank L. Parrett of Fayette co and ever so many others a chance to get in. But what will become of all the Fesses on the official rolls at Washington if the father cannot and? And there is no guarantee that he can. The entrance of Mr. Fess will mean of course that Hon. Daugherty will not be in and he may have the administration support if that counts for anything.

Members of the legislative committee who made the journey to Portsmouth this week to look over the big game preserve that has been established there returned thru Columbus tickled as school boys with a brand new set of marbles. They agreed that the state got a mighty good bargain and they are stronger for the reforestation proposition generally than they ever were before in all their lives. This argues that if they have any weight there will be larger appropriations for this purpose next year. The committee was trapped over the hills and they contend that fine growths of timber are to be found which will amply repay the state for the investments it will make. They hope that others may see this trip, in a sense, was diverted from its main purpose which was to see the old members of the Scio River. This, a canal along the Scio River, should be given up entirely as they have little faith that the canal route will be selected for a lake, to river, large canal. That will come if at all, to western Ohio.

There isn't a great deal of encouragement in the statement that emanates from the Ohio Highway Department that the highways of Ohio are not in as bad a condition as they were a year ago. The weather of last winter, an "open" season, is blamed, but the trouble really seems to be more basic. Destruction of highways by trucks is one feature, and perhaps there are others such as inadequate construction of many roads. But it does look as if Ohio is getting itself modernized as to highways as rapidly as it might. Ways must be found to deal with a problem like the character of winter weather because the state cannot lose its investment because the days are too cold or not cold enough. Bye and bye, a map will be issued which will show the condition of every piece of highway in the state. Generally speaking, the contention is that the gravel roads have not withstood the wear and tear as well as other types.

In Columbus this week the second year's wool crop to go into storage began to arrive here. The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation is in charge of the shipments and a big factory building here is the situs of the farmers' crop. A large part of the wool of the general part of the state will be gathered here. The farmers received no money for it, of course, but they did have to pay, burlage and insurance and other charges. If they sell it, it is as when to use the market expression — they will get their initial outcry back, that is if it sells for enough. There was another item this week that brought many people to realize how the world stands. This was the decline in oil securities. The reason is explained to be fundamentally the same as that applicable to the wool, lack of credits abroad. And credits are improving very slowly if at all. The economic and not the political argument is reaching the people now and reaching them with a force it would be hard to measure, hard indeed.

When Herbert L. Elliott, member of the Ohio Industrial Commission, came back to the job this week, there was a flutter in all quarters. For Herbert has been away, may be only on a vacation but may be also for another reason. His place was given to Miss Rose Moriarty who was confirmed by the Senate and made all fit and ready to step into the five-thousand dollar job. Then Mr. Elliott went away. Well, who wouldn't? The appointment made the manufacturers and employers generally curse beneath their breaths and it made the workmen do the same thing openly. They like the Thomas J. Duffy kind of labor leader but the Moriarty type is something else. Then there were stories that Miss Moriarty, after all, would not accept the position. She never appeared here but the stories did. Mr. Elliott is from the same town, Delaware, as Judge B. W. Hough and is one of the inner Frank B. Willis guard. If Mr. Willis is not to be so friendly at the White House, then why not at the Executive Mansion of Ohio. There was another angle to the story which will not be recounted here. Need-

No Change in Model of the Marmon 34

Buyers will not find their Marmons superseded by new models. Marmon owners assured permanent investment.

THE lowered price of the Marmon 34 does not mean a different nor lesser model. It does not mean that we are disposing of one model preparatory to introducing a new.

For $3985 you obtain the identical $5000 Marmon 34, the finest car we ever built.

Your investment is permanent. Your car is not superseded by a later model. We emphasize this point and suggest that you be certain, in buying a car, that your money is going into a permanent model—not one that will soon be out-of-date. Be as sure of the permanency of the model as you are of the price. Ask this question: "Is the car I am buying a permanent model, or is a new model about to be announced?" You are entitled to this information. The Marmon price reduction is a genuine one, based on the changes and anticipated changes in production costs. It brings today the prices of 1922, together with the latest improvements and refinements in motor-car engineering and construction. It is spoken of generally as "the best buy on the market." The sales have increased enormously. Men everywhere appreciate this rare situation.

A Marmon 34 is at your disposal for comparative demonstration. It proves its own superiority, particularly if you are your own driver and put it through the 12 vital tests yourself.

We invite you to visit us today, or telephone for a demonstration.

THE QUARREL IS OVER WHICH BIRD HAS THE MOST PEACEFUL DISPOSITION

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This is an unlucky day. Unsettled weather conditions may cause great loss of crops this summer. If the stars are read aright, there may be a prevailing inclination towards sudden wealings and untimely weddings. Again there is an indication of trouble for the king of England and his government. It is prophesied that better conditions will prevail in Mexico, and that there will be excellent opportunities for business dealing with that country. Persons whose birthday this is should beware of speculation during the coming year, as they may be subject to a tendency to make unwise investments. Children born on this day will be more successful if employed by others than if they go into business for themselves. (Copyright, 1921)

THE WEEK IN LIMA
THE last week has been filled with important incidents for Lima. It saw among other things another municipal battle in which the administration was defeated in the first round and victorious in the second.

The verdict of the jury which heard the evidence submitted by the city against the two police officers, against whom charges were forced, was a distinct blow to the mayor. He had engineered the affair and sought a conviction.

Following this verdict, the safety director resigned, giving as his reason lack of harmony between himself and the mayor. This was a victory for the chief executive in that he was given a free hand to carry out his will in the matter of police administration, which he has sought for months.

The reaction of the public was interesting to note. Hundreds cheered when the mayor was defeated and many more groaned when his lieutenant quit.

The incident is not closed, the mayor having announced that he will not fill the vacancy caused by Safer Fisher's resignation until Monday at the earliest. He has given no indication who will be named.

The city, already in a sad financial condition, will borrow money to pay for plans for public work which will not be done this year. To do this certificates of indebtedness will be issued, which will bear interest. The first installment of $25,000 of these notes was authorized by council.

City Auditor Rupert will make another attempt to sell more than a million dollars worth of Lima certificates soon. He has been unable to dispose of construction notes and deficiency bonds, although they bear the maximum interest allowed in Ohio—six percent. Because of the inability to sell the deficiency bonds, the city has been forced to make an advanced draw on the county treasury in anticipation of the next collection of taxes.

Bids were opened on a number of paving projects in which the prices varied on different materials to such an extent that city officials have decided to allow interested property owners to decide what type of construction they prefer. This may cause a delay in the awarding of the work, which is already late.

Legal action against more contractors on public work is contemplated by state authorities on the charge that the 8-hour law is being violated despite the fact that workmen have petitioned to be allowed to work 10 hours. Four of the leading contractors will go on trial Tuesday on similar charges filed some time ago.

Business conditions in the city showed little change during the week. Varied reports came from mercantile houses, some reporting fair sales while others declared they were far below the corresponding week a year ago. There was little change in the labor situation.

SAFEGUARDING THE HOME

THE senate of the United States some day we suppose will consider the Sheppard-Towner Maternity bill, which has been having a rough time of it in legislative circles. Hearings thus far held on the bill have disclosed some amazing figures such as the fact that 23,000 mothers and 250,000 infants died each year in the country. That there is adequate reason for giving a measure of this character considerable of serious consideration must be apparent to every citizen interested in safeguarding the homes of the country.

In practically every foreign country means have been devised and legislation passed by national governments providing for the care and instruction of mothers. In America alone it is said the mortality of mothers has remained stationary or even increased. In nations which have compiled statistics on maternity and infancy the United States stands seventeenth in its death toll of mothers. America ranks seventh in the list of twenty countries in infant mortality. Notwithstanding an evident lack of complete appreciation of the seriousness of the situation much progress has been made in this respect in the United States.

Individual states have seized upon the necessities of the situation and have passed laws which in some measure at least have assumed guardianship over mothers and infants. But the master stroke in this direction, a federal law for the protection of maternity and infancy thus far remains unenacted. Of course, the government must not be supposed to have been wholly oblivious to the demands of the situation. Quite on the contrary it has accomplished much in the direction of helpfulness.

The Sheppard-Towner bill, however, is vast in its scope and important in its premises and it is intended to stimulate the aid of states in providing means for saving the lives of thousands of mothers and babies who annually are dying in this country for want of proper care and attention. It is said that women's organizations with a membership of 10,000,000 are back of this measure and they are supported by governors of 25 states where child welfare or child hygiene bureaus function.

The senate committee on education and labor has recommended the passage of this bill. It looks as tho the matter ought to be taken up and given the consideration it deserves. It is a step in the preservation of the American home.

SCIENCE AND SURGERY

OUT in Kansas City, learned surgeons who had about exhausted research in familiar fields of endeavor in alleviating the sufferings of humanity or correcting anatomical defects by the use of the knife, set out to find new worlds to conquer.

They found a child that had been born without ears. The auricular openings were supplied by nature in the usual form and the child could hear perfectly well, but the usual ear formation on the side of the head, never a thing of beauty, but necessary, was missing.

Science and surgery conceived the idea of supplying to the child what nature failed to bestow. Plastic tho it be and obedient to the will of a skilled surgeon in most cases, it was doubted if squares of the human cuticle could be fashioned into something like a human ear. But science is daring and surgery is anxious for something new.

Strips of skin were removed from the child's thigh and fashioned into the usual form of auricular appendages. How to get the cuticle to thrive under the new environment was the problem to be met, but it is stated authoritatively that the effort is a success and that the Kansas City child now has the usual aides to hearing possessed by the normal representative of the human family.

The world war afforded the opportunity for science and surgery to wander far afield in new lines of endeavor and the things learned in aid of the soldier are now being applied to those in civil life who find themselves needing such assistance.

STOPPING THE BIG FIGHT

PREVIOUS to heavyweight championship prize-fights in this country there is always more or less pressure brought to bear on officials to stop the contests after arrangements have progressed almost to completion and immense amounts of money have been spent.

An effort of this kind was made just prior to the Willard-Dempsey battle, but without avail. The contest went on.

Now that another fight in which the championship is at stake is scheduled to take place soon, efforts are being made to prevent it. Petitions of this kind have been sent to Secretary of State Hughes in which the coming exhibition is characterized as brutal and against public morals.

The public has never taken the ranting of reformers concerning prizefights seriously. It is not likely that it will do so in this case. It is true that they are rather rougher than the ordinary parlor game, but the combatants are prepared for it. They spend weeks and months in preparation and go into the ring in such fine physical condition that they are able to withstand the punishment of opponents. Considered from this angle there is nothing serious in such battles and it is certain that the public will suffer little in a moral way.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS—BY DR. WM. BRADY

Thickening or enlargement of the adenoid body, which is a third to all in the ceiling of the throat up out of sight above the soft palate, is called "adenoids," but should not be called "adenoid growths" for it is merely an enlargement of a normal tonsil-like structure, akin to enlarged tonsils, which are usually seen accompanying adenoids.

According to an old theory, certain children have a constitutional tendency toward overgrowth of lymphatic tissues in the tonsils, adenoid body, appendix and elsewhere. It seems more likely that the hygienic (or rather unhygienic) environment and habit of coughing with heat and clothing is the actual cause of such a tendency. It is characteristic that in open-air schoolrooms adenoids occur but rarely as compared with the marked prevalence of the condition in the usual overcrowded and poorly ventilated prison where children laboriously acquire their A B C's.

With every insult of the upper respiratory region, every fresh infection, or, as the superstitious old women and the politician health officer still calls it, "cold in the head," the adenoid body swells and its cells multiply to help fight the invading germs. After a series of such battles the adenoid body remains permanently enlarged. So that out vicious practice of exposing children in the schoolroom to such infections—just because it happens that no doctor has labeled the disease diphtheria or scarlet fever or influenza or something—must be admitted a chief cause of adenoids.

Enlargement of the adenoid body calls for surgical relief when the infant, child or adult has any impairment ment of hearing or earache or inflammation in the middle ear or running ear. Likewise surgical removal of the adenoids is required when the patient suffers frequently recurring attacks of acute sore throat, acute adenoiditis, or acute coryza—for these attacks, the nose does not serve, nevertheless menace health and life itself because of the serious complications which are likely to occur—such as sinusitis, meningitis, middle ear suppuration, mastoiditis, arthritis, endocarditis (heart disease).

THE PEOPLE

Living with the people, the good, the brave, the strong. Glad to pass the time of day with all who come along.

Lord, it's good to meet your children as they trudge life's thoroughfare. And learn the hopes they cherish and the dreams they see out there.

Living with the people here upon the kindly earth. And finding in the strangest garb the messages of mirth. For many a stirring tale of life the passer-by can tell. And every man is worth your while if but you know him well.

Living with the people, the rich, the poor, the wise. The same breeze blowing over them, the same sun in their eyes. And this you learn from high and low, through life's stretch of years. We're brothers in the joys we take and brothers in our tears.

I'm sorry for the haughty man who holds his head in air. And passes by in cold disdain the garbs of toil and care. For tho he may be rich and great 'tis lonely he must live. He misses all the glorious joy his fellows have to give.

Oh, walk with them and talk with them and hear the tales they tell. The passers-by would be your friends if but you knew them well. The children of the Lord are they, and as they come and go, There is not one among them all that is not good to know.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This is an unlucky day. Unsettled storms and unsettled conditions may cause great loss of crops this summer. If the stars are read aright, there may be a prevailing inclination towards sudden and unlucky weddings. Again there is an indication of trouble for the king of England and his government. It is prophesied that better conditions will prevail in Mexico, and that there will be excellent opportunities for business dealings with that country. Persons whose birthday this is should beware of speculation during the coming year, as they may be subject to a tendency to make unwise investments. Children born on this day will be more successful if employed by others than if they go into business for themselves. (Copyright, 1931.)

DISSATISFACTION OVER SLATE

More Names for Commission May Be Brought Out Here.

WILLIS IS IN A TANTRUM

Resume of Various Phases of Political Situation.

(BY J. W. FISHER)

First guns in the campaign for city commissioners have been fired by the Committee of 200. This August body has picked a slate of five men to be placed before the people and is going so apparently attempted to study the various elements in the city.

How far they succeeded is yet to be determined, but the various rumors to be heard about the city at present indicated that they fell short of accomplishing what they desired. There is no denying the fact that there is a discussion in the ranks of the committee itself and among a part of the general voters, at least. Some of the members of the committee wanted to include the name of one or two women, but this was deemed the reason given being that women are not ready for this work. It is said that some of the prominent women leaders themselves asked that names of feminine voters not be included, but this explanation does not seem to appease some of the members.

Grumbling also is heard among adherents of certain political party that none of their party appears on the slate. They take the position that there should be no politics in the matter, but that there certainly are members of the party in Lima big enough to be included along with the others.

In view of this feeling, there appears to be a strong probability that there will be another slate brought out as well as individuals who will run on their own account.

Much the same tactics that were prominent in the makeup of Francis Bartlett Willis when he was Governor of Ohio are again coming to the fore in connection with his attitude as United States Senator. The "still small voice of the Scioto" wants things done—lots of 'em—but he always wants to do 'em himself or tell someone else how they should be done.

While all cahunk with the Ohio wing of the G. O. P. that has branded Governor Harry Lyman Davis as a political ne'er-do-well and a dangerous and undesirable person without, politically, Francis Bartlett has split with his colleagues on other points. For he it known that Frankie is a spoiled child. He feels that he provided, to a great extent, the "playthings" with which his fellow party men are now amusing themselves and just naturally he wanted something to say about how those particular adjuncts to "political childhood" should be handled. He believes that, as U. S. Senator, he should have the "last word" in federal appointments in his own state. It was pointed out in his own state that it was pointed out for F. B. W. when President Harding appointed Major Roy C. Haynes as the new federal commissioner of prohibition, but when Willis promised George Stauffer of Ottawa appointments as collector or internal revenue in the Toledo district, he reckoned without Walter Brown, national "reorganizationist" for the President. Walter wanted Charles Nauts of Toledo to succeed Frank B. Niles and he got him, too. Therein and thereat, Senator Frankie is mad. He threatens to gather up his playthings and go home while Willis and Brown were in a deadlock over Stauffer and Nauts and own Tom Edwards with an Allen-co endorsement tucked away in his jeans, sauntered down to Washington, hitched his wagon to the John L. Cable star and started right in to land the job for himself. But the "stars" were not right and "it" now is revealed that Tom never had a chance.

Since Nauts has been named, Willis is peeved. In fact, he had filed a solemn protest, because Nauts is "obnoxious" to him. "Get this," the lusty lunged Delawarean shouts. "I am opposed to Nauts' confirmation and I shall remain opposed to it until the end. I shall avail myself of all the official and traditional privileges and prerogatives of the Senate in order to prevent his confirmation. He will not be confirmed if I can help it."

Evidence that Willis and the President are near the breaking point is afforded a plenty. And it's simply a case of too much Nauts and Brown. How Willis is going to explain to Stauffer of Ottawa, who was all set for the Toledo district job, remains to be seen. It may be that there'll be something in the way of sop-for-George, but it isn't disclosed yet. Top leaders in the G. O. P. ranks who succeed in keeping their feet "dry" in the Ohio situation, with its many angles, will be fortunate.

Altho it is a minor position that Mrs. Ross Mullen is seeking—assessing in the Fourth ward of Lima—it is of unusual importance at this time for the reason that Mrs. Mullen is the first woman to seek elective office in this city since 1892.

Mrs. Mullen was at the head of the women's organization in the 1921 campaign in Allen-co, in behalf of the Democratic ticket. As a party worker and wise counselor she proved her worth. Mrs. Mullen is a firm believer that since the right of franchise has been extended to women that they should avail themselves of the opportunities afforded. She believes that they should assist in the affairs of government. Therefore, in becoming a candidate, she has demonstrated that she is consistent.

There is no question that Mrs. Mullen will be nominated in August, unless the name of some other is written on the primary tickets and receives a greater number of votes, but there is no present indication of anything of that sort. Likewise, George H. Copeland is expected to be accorded the Republican endorsement and these two will contest in the November election.

Mrs. Mullen was one of the pioneers in activity of women in politics in Lima and Allen-co. She has been an ardent student of politics and is paving the way for those of her sex in coming into their own in the manner contemplated by the granting of suffrage.

Probably it is not intended that the local municipal mixup should resolve itself into a political question, but it appears to have gotten into that condition, the same as a somewhat similar affair in Wapakoneta. In Lima a Democratic mayor is fighting for the conviction of two former police sergeants on charges of disturbing the peace, after they resigned and sacrificed their monthly incomes as such officers. A jury of twelve men couldn't see why the ex-officers should be further punished and found them not guilty in a trial wherein no evidence was presented by the defense.

In Wapakoneta, a Republican safety director, backed by a G. O. P. administration, is after a Democratic patrolman, on charges of incompetency, insubordination and a lot of other things, trumped up just because a prisoner wanted at St. Mary's on a charge of less seriousness than murder, made his escape from the officer. If signs indicate anything, the activities of a Democratic mayor in Lima and a Republican safety director in Wapakoneta, in pursuing police officers, have not made a big bit with the general public. The prediction is freely made that the Wapakoneta incident spells defeat for the G. O. P. outfit in the next election. The cases in Lima and in Wapakoneta are simply attacks of political belly-ache.

That there is a deep sentiment among the people generally in favor of the calling of representatives of the principal nations of the world to discuss disarmament, is indicated by a flood of petitions that is pouring into Washington, addressed to Representatives and Senators, urging them to use their influence to bring about such movement. The 4th district of Ohio is uniting in the general demand for a conference of nations, many persons believing that disarmament is the only way in which wars can be prevented.

Petitions have found their way to Washington from the membership of the First Presbyterian church at Greenville, Lost Greek Christian church in Miami, Church of the Brethren at Arcanum, Dark-co Sunday School association, the M. E. church of Bluffton and the Congregational church at Dover Center.

Altho the steel and munition interests of the country will very likely oppose all efforts at disarmament, petitions flowing in upon Senators and Congressmen from their constituents back home are likely to stir the lawmakers to a sense of their duty as demanded by the folks who have to pay the bills and who are responsible for the lawmakers being sent to Washington in the first place.

It looks like there's to be a showdown on the disarmament question and the law-givers will have to decide between the interests and the people, unless they can find some way of evading the dilemma.

There's a new angle to the United States Senatorship fight prospect in Ohio next year. Lately there has been very little heard concerning the expectations and aspirations of Attorney General Harry Daugherty in that direction or the candidacy of Governor Harry L. Davis for the G. O. P. rain check.

If an announcement issued by Lehr Fees, parliamentarian of the national House of Representatives and a son of Congressman Simon D. Fees, can be accepted at its face value and means just what it says, it is quite likely that Daugherty will come nearer the United States Senatorship than being talked of in that connection. According to the younger Fees, his father will be a candidate for Senator.

That doesn't mean exactly that Governor Davis is out of it. Far from it. There is now every good reason to believe that Congressman Fees has been decided upon by President Harding. Attorney General Daugherty and Senator Francis Bartlett Willis to seek election as the colleague of the latter named. A bouquet has been pinned on the Yellow Springs man.

A fight between Fees and Davis for nomination for the Senatorial toga is also expected to precipitate a clash between Secretary of State Harry C. Smith and former Congressman Ralph D. Cole of Findlay for Governor, with perhaps other entrants. Davis defeated Cole last fall by 14,000 votes.

That ubiquitous Shelby-countian, J. Ed Russell, whose place of habit, at right speaking, is in Sidney, having gotten his feet onto the political fly paper, just can't keep them off now. Ed used to have the itch for office so bad he'd sit up all night to scratch it. As in most all cases where persistence finally wins, Ed stayed with it until on a certain occasion for Ed—the Democratic of the 4th Congressional district got themselves into an internal squabble and Ed dragged home the bacon as a Congressman.

His talents were not appreciated in Washington, however, and Ed did this year draw his salary, it is said. Having voted for the Rose county local option law while a member of the Ohio legislature, Ed has been accredited as a "dry," hence, the announcement that he is seeking appointment as federal prohibition officer to succeed J. A. Shearer, Democrat, who will probably be ousted by the new federal director, Major Roy Hauness, is not surprising.

Russell claims he has had endorsements of all the county committees in the 4th district—of course, and is securing endorsement from other counties of the state. When Ed was in the "Legislature" and later in Congress, the Republican organization used to have him labeled as ornamental but not over useful. Hence, it isn't likely that anybody—save and except Ed—is going to become excited about his latest aspirations.

It is quite natural to expect that the Democratic organization of the 4th Congressional district will have a candidate for the lower House of Representatives next year, to oppose Congressman John L. Cable. In fact, there may be more than one for a primary election.

Whether B. F. Welty, defeated by Cable in 1920, will try for a comeback, remains to be determined. Ben hasn't indicated just what he intends to do or not to do. There is a far-reaching belief that the Bourbon organization will come into power again in the 4th next year and the wheel horses of the party don't propose to be absent from home when opportunity knocks at the party door.

There is a growing sentiment that the retirement of Congressman J. H. Goeke a few years back was a mistake. There is considerable of that sort of sentiment over the district right now and it would not be at all surprising if Goeke should be asked by his party to accept a nomination, without opposition.

It is not likely that he would engage in a contest for the nomination; in fact, if the party desires him to seek the place, a nomination should be accorded without the necessity of fighting for it. Saying nothing to the disparagement of others, those acquainted with the situation are agreed that Mr. Goeke, a resident of Lima, would probably be the most formidable candidate that could be found in the tier of counties making up the 4th district.

Whatever is to be done in the matter of lining up candidates for city commissioner in Lima, to take office on January 1, 1922, will have to be done soon; aspirants for that office must be under the wire by July 9. That is the final date for filing with the board of elections of names to go on the primary ticket.

The beauty of the commission system is that candidates are prevented from going to the lengths permitted under the federal plan to obtain nomination and certain extent.

In nomination and election it is a fair field, with politics suppose to be in the discard. But the statement that politics will have a lot to do with the picking of the nominees is here reiterated. You might as well try to make water run up hill in an open ditch as to keep politics out of city affairs, under any circumstances.

The wrong principle is being exercised by numerous persons in connection with developing the new form of government. They are hoping for the best, while expecting the worst. That's all wrong. The people voted for it and it deserves a fair trial. Nothing less will do. That some other city has tried it and later reverted to the old federal plan is no reason why Lima should have the same experiences. This city can and should profit by the mistakes of others.

GOVERNOR DAVIS WINS FIGHT

Supreme Court Upholds Emergency Clause of "Ripper."

GOVERNOR IS MADE CZAR

Formidable Political Machine is Built Up.

Governor Davis has won. His "ripper" bill, emergency and all, will become a law of the state on July 1 and the present existing order of things will be torn to shreds—that is, that part of the state government which has not already been "ripped" by the administration at Columbus.

The emergency clause of the reorganization measure has been sustained by the high court and the war is now open for Governor Davis to appoint a cabinet of eight department heads, as contemplated by the law, referendum plans have received a dash of cold water most unexpectedly and the decision will likely not only result in enemies of the administration capitalizing the monumental blunder of the Legislature, but it is certain to do a little "ripping" in the G. O. P. ranks, for many of the members of the General Assembly have been aligned against the reorganization bill to the extent of opposing the measure with all their strength.

WHAT MEASURE DOES

Here's what the Governor's pet measure will do to the state of Ohio: It destroys the form of government intended; it makes assured one self; it makes of the Governor a czar, holding the destiny of all appointees in the hollow of his hand, even down to district school superintendents; it makes assured one of the most formidable political machines ever constructed in the state; it makes assured the expenditure of far more money than during the last administration of Governor Cox; it denies to the people the right to review the act as adopted by their Representatives; it assumes that the "immediate peace, health and safety of the people is menaced," it provides for the spending of a million dollars of the people's money, appropriated by the Legislature for salary increases and new positions to be created; it is the most indefensible salary grab made in 40 years in Ohio; it means a return to the "good old days" when politicians thought it was none of the people's business how they were governed or what became of their money; it sweeps away safeguards about the expenditures of the people's money; it opens the way for graft and corruption if men of the highest type are not called into service; the Davis raid is the most daring coup ever pulled off in the state of Ohio.

Many other details could easily be related in the process of pointing out to the people of Ohio how they have been duped and tricked and their rights wrested from them by a willing and subservient Legislature when the Governor cracked the whip of authority over their heads. The people of Ohio have no objections to the betterment of governmental conditions and the reorganization measure may honestly be intended to afford such service, but there are hundreds and thousands in both the old parties who cannot understand why, if it is a meritorious thing, that the electorate should be denied the right to approve or disapprove of it.

Judges Jones, Matthias, Hough and Robinson voted to sustain the Legislature. Chief Justice Marshall and Judges Wanamaker and Johnson dissented. Separate dissenting opinions are being written by Judges Wanamaker and Johnson.

PETITION IS SCOUTED
Action by representative citizens of Cincinnati in having signed "by great numbers of people a petition asking Governor Davis to make public the names of those who were purported to have signed a petition asking the Governor to pardon Ponticos, convicted of wronging a young girl in his employ, indicates that Cincinnatians, who were very much wrought up over the Governor's action, scout the existence of such a petition in behalf of Ponticos.

When public indignation was at fever heat in Cincinnati, after the pardon of the foreigner, the Governor refused when asked to make public the names of those he claimed were affixed to a petition asking him to grant the pardon. Cincinnatians are determined to force the hand of the Governor. The statement from the executive office that "representative" citizens of the Queen City had petitioned the Governor to release Ponticos apparently has been accepted with a grain of salt by really representative citizens. At any rate, they are "from Missouri," and if the Governor doesn't come thru with the names, it is likely that suspicion will linger in many minds.

It isn't altogether reasonable to believe that the Governor would misrepresent in such a serious matter and it is doubtless true that he did receive such a petition. However, no harm would result from the disclosure of the names of the petitioners.

FORCED TO BATHE BY SOAP ADVERTISEMENTS

CHICAGO.—Here's the "low down" on bathing.

Charles Henry Mackintosh, an advertising expert, blames it all on soap advertising.

Says Charles: "Only a short time ago we bathed once a week and generally on Saturday. We even skipped once in a while. Then came a flood of advertising by soap manufacturers until we were persuaded we weren't Christians unless we took a daily bath. We were advertised into it. Advertising ought to raise the standard of living."

HUDSON BAY SCHOONER TO MAKE INITIAL TRIP AFTER ARCTIC FUR TRADE

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The schooner Lady Kindersley, built for the Hudson's Bay Company for the Arctic fur trade, has sailed on her initial voyage up the coast thru Behring Sea, around Point Barrow and eastward thru the Summer ice lanes of the Arctic to the Mackenzie River. She will carry supplies for the Hudson's Bay Company posts.

She will also take north four small schooners. The Hudson's Bay Company, which is disposing of its farm lands in the prairie provinces, has many fur posts in the Mackenzie basin, the Yukon and on the edges of the Great Barrens. Fort McPherson is the northernmost fur post on the continental mainland, while the post on Herschel Island is about 200 miles nearer the pole.

The Lady Kindersley is a powerful vessel designed especially for stern conditions in the ice-studded northern seas and to resist the pressure of flogs. She is of 635 gross tonnage, 200 feet long, with a beam of 36 feet and a moulded depth of 15 feet. Her ribs and hull are of British Columbia fir and she is sheathed with two-inch ironbark planks. She will depend on her sails in good weather, but is equipped with a semi-Diesel engine, which will drive her at eight knots an hour.

SIX CAPTURED IN RUNNING BATTLE

Van Wert Officers Take Men After Chase

EXPLOSION WRECKS SHOP

Most Citizen Dies, Enlisted in Lima Company in Civil War

VAN WERT — (Special) — Following a mysterious phone tip that several men were on a freight train bound for Van Wert, Sheriff J. C. Benda and three helpers took six men off a freight train here Saturday morning, after a chase thru woods in which a lively gun play figured for a short time. The men were captured before anyone was hurt. They gave their names as Frank Wilson, Harvey Shaffer, Ben Holey and E. M. Shaffer of Canton, Ohio; Edie of Toledo; and Melvin Morrison of Marion. Unable to pay the fines assessed they were lodged in the county jail.

Harry Painter and Charles Bagan had a miraculous escape from injury when an acetylene tank with which they were working exploded blowing out the entire east side of the repair shop which the men run on Kessler street. Mr. Painter who was doing some acetylene welding was thrown under some near by machinery and landed up while Charles Bagan received a few cuts from flying bits of metal. An automobile standing near the tank had the radiator crushed in and the top broken. The gas tank itself was blown to pieces; the large part wrapping itself around an iron pipe nearby.

Frank T. Gilliland, oldest living citizen here, born in the city of Van Wert died at his home aged 80 years. During his lifetime he was active in many politics, serving in many public offices. During the civil war he enlisted with Co. B, 192 Inf. from Ohio. He was a member of the G. A. R. and of the Elks lodge. He will be buried today.

Members of the boards of directors of the farm bureaus of Van Wert, Paulding, Allen and Putnam counties, and the county agents will meet here Saturday to discuss problems of this district. Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau and A. E. Anderson, agricultural specialist from the Ohio State university will talk.

Slightly less than last year the budget for county expenses for 1921-22 has been compiled by the county commissioners as totaling $104,450.

Ellis Rummion, 17, favorite among the local boys died today following an accident while swimming during a family reunion at Tiffin Sunday. He jumped into the water striking his head with such force that one of the bones in his spine was dislocated and another broken. He was a junior in the Van Wert high school.

Efforts are being made by the local Red Cross to effect the return to Great Lakes naval training station of two sailors picked off a freight train here who are absent without leave and will be classed as deserters if not back at camp by June 22.

Sister Of Irish Martyr Will Speak Here Friday

MARY MACSWINEY

Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, who died a martyr to the cause of Irish freedom, in an English prison, will address a large mass meeting at Memorial hall, next Friday night. Lima will be the first of only eleven cities in the state that will hear Miss MacSwiney on her tour. She comes here under the auspices of the Lima Branch of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, of which Thomas Phalen, 443 Albert st., is president and Miss Mary Phalen, 951 W. North st., secretary.

Besides addressing the mass meeting in the evening, Miss MacSwiney will talk before Lima club women in the afternoon, after which an informal reception will be tendered her at the Normal hotel.

A reception committee of prominent Lima people also will meet Miss MacSwiney at the depot when she arrives Friday and take her for an auto ride through the city.

MAKES MANY ADDRESSES. Miss MacSwiney who is a teacher in the Cork schools, has given addresses in most of the large cities of the United States.

When Miss MacSwiney and her sister-in-law, widow of the Lord Mayor of Cork, came to the United States they thought their testimony before the Committee Investigating Conditions in Ireland, would be of short duration and they would soon return to the Emerald Isle.

That was six months ago and Miss MacSwiney is still here. No day is too long for her—no mass meeting too large—no railroad jump too long, nor any task too arduous. Quickly she is on the jump from early morning, often until the "wee sma" hours of another day, and never is known to complain of her lot.

Miss MacSwiney has visited nearly every large city in the United States and in the face of hecklers of all descriptions has managed to win many friends.

REGULAR DAILY ROUTINE. Following is not an unusual day's routine for her:

Arise 5 o'clock to catch 6 o'clock train.

Ride 3 hours, during which time she is dictating letters to her secretary.

Change to interurban car line.

Ride another hour.

Reach a destination. Met at depot by reception committee and taken to hotel for informal reception.

'ISRAELITES' ARE DRIVEN OUT

Religious Sect Forcefully Ejected From Government Land

REFUSED TO SURRENDER

Battle Mounted Police Near Queenstown, Cape Colony

CAPETOWN — (By Associated Press) — A native religious sect, which calls itself the "Israelites," under a "prophet" named "Enoch," who refused to evacuate government land at Bulhoek, near Queenstown, Cape Colony, has been forcibly ejected, losing 171 killed and 126 wounded in a fight with mounted Cape police.

For some years past, the government had permitted the "Israelites" to celebrate "Passover" on a common but each year a growing number of pilgrims remained behind on what they called "holy ground" until a village of some 350 huts had sprung up. The sect forbade anybody to enter the village, or to recognize any authority except orders from "Jehovah the God of Israel," as interpreted by Enoch the prophet.

The government some time ago endeavored to register the settlement but the police were obliged to withdraw to avoid bloodshed.

Peaceful efforts by the Secretary for Native Affairs and others to induce the "Israelites" to withdraw failed. They steadfastly refused to go.

800 MOUNTED POLICE. Finally a force of 800 mounted police moved from Queenstown to demand the surrender of the village. With shouts of "Jehovah says we must fight," 4,000 natives charged the police with swords and assegais, the women urging on the men with wild religious chants. The police let them come on until within 30 yards and then fired, with the result stated. Thereupon the prophet Enoch surrendered and the village is to be demolished.

The affair has caused some stir in the Cape House of Assembly. Premier Smuts declared that in view of the natives' obstinacy there was no other way to make them understand that they must obey the law.

Noon—speaks at some civic club luncheon.

8 o'clock—speaks before some gathering of associated women's clubs.

5 to 7—more handshaking.

7 to 7:30—Dinner (sometimes).

7:30—go to mass meeting, which lasts until 10 o'clock or after.

Always there are scores from members of Miss MacSwiney's audience who wish to talk with her for a few minutes after the meeting. Does she dodge? She does not. She tells one former countryman that Cork is a sad city, but still there and still imbued with an indomitable fighting spirit. She quietly and actually sets another man right about what he has heard of conditions in Ireland. She answers the questions of non-Irish pro-British and Irish and others who attempt to heckle her—never losing her temper even when a radical non-believer attempts to point out the flaws of her arguments.

CASH SQUANDERED WIFE ALLEGES

Mrs. Rogers Charges Husband
Dabbled in Stocks and Lost.

ABSOLUTE DIVORCE WANTED

Says She Was Forced to Furnish Him Money.

Gregory L. Rogers, husband of Edna Neely Rogers, dabbled in the stock market and lost in his investments, his wife charged in an amended petition, filed in common pleas court Saturday.

Rogers, thru his attorneys, asked in a motion filed in court June 7, that his wife make more definite her petition, in which she charged neglect and cruelty. The action was started in court a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Rogers in her new petition alleges her husband squandered and dissipated $10,000 of her money in stock investment and stock market gambling.

WAS IDLER SHE SAYS

She says that Rogers is a ceramic engineer by profession and that during all their married life he failed and refused to obtain and continue in employment. He worked only at intervals or for short periods, the petition says, moving from place to place over various parts of the United States.

Mrs. Rogers charges that he never furnished her a suitable home and the only place they could call home was furnished with household goods bought by her money.

Mrs. Rogers charges her husband appropriated money belonging to her by drawing checks against accounts she had in bank and that he borrowed money from her friends, refusing to repay it, thereby causing her great humiliation and embarrassment.

She says her husband is possessed of an insanely jealous disposition and that he questioned her conduct, insinuating it was not proper.

PAYS FOR TRIP She says she paid for long trips made by her husband and that during the past two years he has been absent much of the time. She states that twice she was forced to return to her mother, Mrs. J. D. S. Neely, in Lima, or seek the home of relatives of Rogers.

They separated September 20, last, and Mrs. Rogers says she was forced to supply the money to bring herself and two young daughters to Lima. She asks an absolute divorce.

Hey there, you ex-gob, soldier or marine, you missed the best meeting ever last Friday night. Col. Harley was there, Adj. Hume was there, in fact every one was there but you, so we don't want to have to impress the importance of these meetings on you any more, for you are the loser, not us, so be there next Friday night.

Orders were received from Columbus headquarters concerning the way colors should be draped, also the wearing of your button for the next thirty days in memory of our deceased National Commander, Col. Galbraith, so if you don't know what the orders are, better get in touch with Adj. Hume, and he'll right you on the matter.

Orders were read from the Commanding General of the fifth Corps area at Ft. Benjamin Harrison saying that all applications for the Citizens Military Camp at Camp Knox must reach him not later than June 25th. If some of you fellows are lonesome for the old bugle, or want to hear the old familiar but dreaded "Fall In" now is a good time, for you can have a month's free training there and it costs you absolutely nothing, not even railroad fare. All who have made application will be notified immediately after the closing date, just what action was taken on their applications.

Now men listen, we have a new and attractive surprise for you. We are going to have some "Legionettes." Col. Harley appointed a committee composed of Dr. Stinks, Morris Connor and Robert Ulrich to get in touch with the ladies concerning an Auxiliary.

ALLEGED BANDITS TO BE TRIED

George Donovan and Joe Willis
Go on Trial This Week.

Trials of George Donovan and Joe Willis, two of the alleged bandits arrested here on May 21, after a running gun battle with police, will be held Monday and Tuesday. Donovan's trial will be on Monday.

In an indictment returned by the last grand jury, Donovan and Willis are charged with highway robbery. Both pleaded not guilty when arraigned.

Both are held to answer a charge robbing the farm home of Samuel and Jacob Fett, Bluffton bachelors, of $2,240 in Liberty bonds and money, on the night of May 13. At that time the bachelor brothers were bound to chairs in their home, while the robbers searched the house from cellar to garret. They finally extracted the bonds and money from an old trunk, according to the story told by the brothers. One hundred of the $2,240 was in money and $140 consisted of a check on the Bluffton bank.

The Fett brothers, Roy E. Bowersock, special investigator for the office of the county prosecutor and Chief of Police Roush have been called to testify.

Up to Saturday night no witnesses had been called by Donovan and Willis.

FIGHT CONTINUED IN AUTO CASE

Common Pleas Court to Conduct Hearings Monday.

The Sturtevant-Jones company, Toledo, appealed their case against Oscar J. Roush to common pleas court, the documents being filed for record at 2:30 p. m., Saturday.

A writ of replevin of the Marmon automobile, held by Roush as custodian, will be issued Monday in common pleas court to secure replevin of the automobile. Appraisal of the automobile at more than $300 caused the action to be certified from justice court to common pleas, according to law.

This car was among the effects of Raleigh Townsend, killed in a running gun battle with bandits by police on May 21. It was found shortly after the battle near Townsend's rooming place, and was placed in Roush's care by Roy E. Bowersock, administrator of the Townsend estate. The Sturtevant-Jones company, Toledo, claim that the car belongs to them, having been stolen, they say, from in front of their place of business in Toledo. They are seeking to have it turned over to them.

John B. Goebel and Frank Ehrlich, former police sergeants, were chosen by Constable Plock to appraise the car. Altho it is practically new and has been run out, it is appraised at $170. In probate court, Frank Killian, W. C. Breuneman and J. G. Zimmerman, set its value at $2,500.

Roush provided a re-delivery bond of $1,500, on which John M. Reese and Frank H. Downing were sureties, after the Sturtevant-Jones company had filed bond in a like amount in justice court.

Roush therefore holds the car in his control. The case will be fought out in common pleas court next week.

Physician Explains Who Should Take Nuxated Iron

Practical Advice on How To Help Build Up
Great Strength, Energy and Endurance

"Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, former director of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. "It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind."

"For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty. Gull of intellect, poor in memory, nervous, irritable and all run down, while at 50 or 60 with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being brimming over with vim and energy. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not metallic iron which people usually take. Organic iron—Nuxated Iron—is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron filings and is therefore an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly concentrated form that one dose is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green peas or half a dozen baked apples. It is like taking extracts of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It quickly helps make rich red blood, revitalizes worn-out exhausted nerves and gives increased strength and energy. Your money will be refunded if the medicine does not produce satisfactory results."

Commission To Urge Clean Ball In Club Loop

By JIM BURBA
FAR be it from your humble servant to utter any "I told you so" stuff, but at this particular moment I can't think of anything more appropriate to say. What say? I'm talking in riddles? Carry on with me, and I shall endeavor to elucidate a trifle. Before we go any farther, I'll say this regards the Lima Business Club league.

Some days ago, on this page, I urged a cleaner sportsman-ship in these games. At the time I heard several comments upon the article, and few skeptical fans declared I was making a moun-tain out of a mole hill. Maybe so, maybe so; but get this—The most important topic to be discussed at a called meeting of the Lima Baseball Commission Monday night will be "cleaner baseball." The announce-ment comes from the secretary of the commission.

The commission is to be congre-gated upon this move. It is true, there is not a lot of dirty playing goes on these games. Watching the games has showed me that the dirty playing is confined to three or four individuals. But why tolerate or excuse this? It wouldn't be hard to elimi-nate it in professional ball, especially organized ball. All the dirty was done off Blankenship. Monday night, the commission is to discuss the most feasible plan for the elimination of this sort of play-ing. Far be it from me to make a suggestion to the honorable commis-sion, but I can't refrain from saying just one move would make a huge step toward the elimination of it. Invest authority in the umpires. Give them authority to either chase a play-er from the game or to slap a fine on him, or both. That's the best way to be rid of this trouble. Make it so that no players who have fine hang-overs in their heads can play. In other words, if he is fined, he must pay said fine before he is allowed on the field. I feel pretty sure that neither umpire would usurp the authority in-vested in him.

ELKS WANT TO SIGN ADDITIONAL PLAYERS

Another thing to be discussed by the commission at its special meet-ing Monday night is a request enter-ed by the Elks. Recently, this team appeared before the body, and re-quested, inasmuch as it has only fourteen players, it be allowed to sign other players up to the 25 play-er limit as prescribed by the rules committee. The first request was turned down flatly by the commis-sion. The Elks, it seems like, are per-sistent in their efforts, and have another proposition to submit to the board.

PLAN TO ENLARGE CIRCUIT NEXT SEASON

Here's a red hot rumor, and you must admit it listens good. It is understood that a plan is now being started by interested members of the Lima Business Club league to make a larger loop of the organization next season. Indica-tions right now that the league will be a six team affair, while it is impossible that eight teams will form the organization. There is no reason why it shouldn't be.

At present the Knights of Col-umbian and the Chamber of Com-merce. There are enough other organizations to make the procuring of two teams additional, even to the ones mentioned, a comparatively easy matter.

With six teams in the race, it would give fans three games a week. With eight teams, of course, there would be four playing days. Even the latter are not too many, for there has certainly been a wonder-ful lot of interest created in the circuit this season, and with two or four additional teams in the league, the enthusiasm would be in-creased just that much.

Here's hoping that those who have started the movement will keep on with the good work, and when the opening gun is fired in 1923 there will be eight teams champing at the bits as the barrier is faced.

POSITIONS MAY CHANGE THIS WEEK

Star, have you glanced the league standing and the schedule for this week? Oh, boy, it gives a lotta room for speculation.

For instance, the Kiwanians are slated to meet the Lions in the first game of the week. These two teams are tied for the cellar position. Need I say this promises to be a merry battle? It promises to reason that both teams are going to enter the field with blood in their respective eyes. The Lions took a fall out of the Elks last week, and are confi-dent that they have just about hit their stride. They are displaying a bit of team work, and that is one of the essential points of success. The Kiwanis has tasted of the sweet fruit which lies near the top of the ladder and are anxious to get back to their former position.

The titular fray of the week is destined to be fought Thursday when the Elks and Rotarians battle for supremacy. The Rotary is lead-ing the loop, but they are being crowded so hard by the Elks that it will never do for them to grow lax in their fight. If they drop Thurs-day's game to the Elks, the Antlered Tribe will swing into the lead by a small margin. As the standing is now, the Rotarians have amassed a percentage of 714 as compared with the Elks' 600. If the leaders drop the game, the Elks will lead with 697, while the Rotarians will have a percentage of 627.

So you may use your own judg-ment as to whether or not two real battles are scheduled for this week.

TWO MEMBERS OF AGATHONS CRACK HURLING DEPARTMENT

Gene Packard and Jimmy Hart. These two members, alone, would form a cracking good hurling depart-ment for the average independent team, but besides Packard and Hart, the Agathons team, which plays the Independents here Wednesday after-noon have Mosely and Carpenter, who are likewise bears when it comes to flinging the spheroid across the platter.

CARPENTIER SHOWS CLASS IN HIS PRIVATE WORKOUT

MANHASSET, N. Y.—Georges Carpentier showed his real class in secret training here Saturday. The pugilist who went first fast rounds in his secluded training ring here was a far different man than the stalling, howling Carpentier of his public workouts.

Georges cut loose with some, real-ly fast foot work, something the scribes have found missing in his exhibitions. None of his sparring partners could put a glove on the Frenchman fought the men en-tirely on the defensive, stepping away from blows that seemed certain to land with an uncanny little side-step all his own.

Marcel Denis, the French fight-weight, went two rounds with Georges, trying to score on the chal-lenger with rights in imitation of Dempsey. Georges stopped away and the blow caught only the empty air.

Little with the showing his man made. He chuckled with delight as Carpentier, without apparent effort, rendered futile with speedy foot-work, the best efforts of all his par-tners to get in a single blow. It was Georges' first real "secret training" session in ten days.

YANKEE POLO TEAM WINS FIRST

HURLINGHAM, England—Amer-ica smothered England Saturday in her first match for the internation-al polo championship 11 to 4.

The marked superiority of the vis-iting four led British experts to pre-dict Saturday night that the title would revert to the United States af-ter being held in Great Britain since the last previous match in 1914.

The teams will play again Wednes-day and if a third game is neces-sary, will meet on the following Saturday.

The Americans outclassed their opponents in every department—teamwork, individual play and mounts. The visitors rode like dem-ons, keeping the British on the de-fensive most of the game.

STARTED WITH RUSH
Starting off with a rush in the first chukker, or period, the Amer-icans scored two goals and shut out their opponents. Each side scored one goal in the second, and two each in the third. The fourth chuk-ker went to the English, 1 to 0. Af-ter that the Americans rode over the field in a beautiful limit control, de-fenders at will, scoring two goals to nothing in the fifth, sixth and seventh periods.

There are usually eight chukkers in a game, but Saturday's match was limited to seven thru an agree-ment reached shortly before the start.

As had been anticipated, Devo-reux Millburn, the veteran American captain, was the individual star. Altho he scored but one goal, he prevented several English scores by his wonderful blocking and his pas-sing paved the way for many of the American goals.

WILSON VS. GREB

BOSTON—Johnny Wilson, mid-dleweight champion, will meet Har-ry Greb in a ten-round no-decision bout at Pittsburg June 23, it was announced here.

Group Of Stars To Play In Lima Wednesday

Remember in the old days when a show troupe advertised its appearance with a galaxy of stars? Well, it's just about that which is scheduled to appear in Lima when the Agathons, of Massillon, Ohio, come here Wednes-day afternoon for a mid-week tilt with the Lima Independents. This is the first mid-week game of the season, and while it is not to the exact liking of Manager Halloran, it was the best he could do, as practically every date on the Agathons playing schedule is filled.

When Mr. Fan looks over the ar-ray of former major leaguers on the Agathons' roster, it's a pretty safe bet that he'll step out to Mur-phy-st lot Wednesday and see the struggle.

Corbett Wants Chance At Baxter

There seems to be a bit of con-troversy as to just who the bantam weight champion of Ohio is. Ed-wards, "director of boxers," Cleve-land, and Walter Perry, of Lima, Perry claims the distinction for his boy, Don Baxter, while Jimmy says Walters' off his beat. The Cleve-land hander further avers that Al Corbett is bantam champ of Ohio, and he stands ready to back his claim against Baxter or any other lad.

In a letter to The News sport ed-itor, Dunn declares, Corbett is the champion by virtue of his defeat over Johnny McCoy and Jack O'Brien. From the tone of Dunn's letter, Perry is seeking a match for Baxter with Carl Tremaine. Dunn says he will agree to the match provided Baxter can stop Corbett.

Dunn is willing that Corbett come to Lima to meet Baxter in immediate future. If Baxter proves a better man than Corbett then a match between the Lima fighter and Tremaine will be booked for either Cleveland or Detroit.

Jimmy adds that he is ready to listen to any turkey talk that Perry has to offer regarding Baxter.

CONCLUDES SCHED

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Winning every dual meet competed in and finishing third for second in the Missouri Val-ley Conference meet, the University of Missouri track team has concluded its 1921 schedule.

Coach Bob Simpson, former star hurdler, led the Tigers in their suc-cessful season despite the absence of several star members who left school last year. Illinois also took crack men from the team.

Several of the men who were forced to leave in the middle of the season owing to illness, together with Capt. Brutus Hamilton, Olympic veteran, will be back next year.

PARIS IS NOT BACKING ITS GEORGES FOR LOT OF CASH

PARIS—Georges Carpentier, as the world well knows, makes his home in Paris, where he is well liked, re-spected as a sportsman, etc., etc.

But there is probably no harder town in the world wherein the eager Dempsey fan can find Carpentier money.

If you want to bet a silk shirt, a bottle of good champagne, a pair of ladies' stockings or a breezy bit of silk lingerie for a Parisian beauty on Dempsey's chances Carpentier's rosters are right there. But at this stage of the game—let's concede that it may change later—there's little change of getting down any substan-tial money on Dempsey.

Frank bets are numerous. ExKing Manuel, of Portugal, for instance, is backing Carpentier. He is said to have risked at least a dozen cigarette cases on Georges.

Andre de Fouquieres, the "Beau Brummel" of Paris, likes Dempsey. If Carpentier takes the count the fashionable crowds at Longchamps race track may expect to see Fou-quieres in some of the most striking vests created since the world was born.

The Prince of Murat will lay him-self out for several costly dinners if Dempsey wins. Most of his bets are with English sportsmen, for the Eng-lish colony, almost solid, is putting its last shirt on Dempsey.

The two French claimants to the "prettiest pair of legs in the world" are both whooping things up for Georges Mille. Mistinguett, whose ad-mirers first pronounced hers the prettiest, hopes to see the fight. She is a friend of handsome Georges and if he wins she will get enough pairs of silk stockings to cover her so-call-ed "prettiest" for the remainder of her days.

Mlle. Spinel, rival of Mistinguett in the beautiful limit controversy, is dealing exclusively in lingerie bets. She is laying their hopes on Demp-siey will draw down everything from kisses to champagne and cigars if she loses.

SARLES CAPTURES UNIONTOWN RACE

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—Roscoe Sar-les, driving a Duesenberg, won the 225-mile Universal Trophy automo-bile race here Saturday.

The most serious accident of the day occurred near the end of the race when Jules Ellingboe, speedster at almost 100-miles-an-hour, skidded on a curve and was thrown from his machine. He was still uncon-scious when removed to the Union-town hospital. His mechanic was thrown from the car, but was not badly hurt. Ellingboe was driving a Frontenac.

Sarles' time was 2:18:20. Aver-age 97.25 miles per hour. His vic-tory brought him $5,000 and a leg on the Universal trophy. Eddie Hearne finished second, a lap behind Sarles. Miller, Soules and Murphy finished in that order behind Hearne.

CHEST GROWS

Jack Dempsey's physical makeup has changed much since he knocked Willard for a row of goals at Toledo. Jack has lost weight in his legs while his chest is doing a regular "Babe Ruth" growth.

RASSLERS MEET

GARNER, Ia.—Paul Frohn, Uni-versity of Illinois wrestling instruct-er, and Ralph Percant, owner of a claim over Johnny Meyers, who victories the middleweight champion-ship, will meet in a wrestling match here July 1.

Lowly Mackmen Hand Drubbing To Cleveland

PHILADELPHIA—Hammering Sgt. Jim Bagby from the box in the seventh inning, the lowly Mackmen grabbed off Saturday's contest from the Champion Indians by an 8 to 4 score. There was never any stage of the game that the Athletics had anything to fear from the Indians. The Mackmen started their scoring in the third frame. To this one, they added two in the fifth. The Indians counted once in the sixth and again in the seventh.

Then, the Elephants opened up with their heavy artillery and scored five runs, placing the game far beyond the reach of the league leaders.

Morton relieved Bagby in the seventh inning and hurled until the eighth, when he was relieved to allow Grady to bat for him in the first of the ninth. While finished the game. The Indians with 12 hits were only one behind the Athletics, but the Mackmen bunched their blows. Johnson was the leading Cleveland slugger of the day, slapping out three hits in four times to the plate.

Jimmy Dikes, slugging second baseman of the Philadelphia clan, continued his streak by slapping out a single, triple and home run in three times to the plate. Johnny Walker, catcher, who is covering the initial cushion for Mack, also smote the apple with a feeling. He not the three safeties in four trips to the plate.

FAT BOY TO HAVE VERY BUSY SPELL

SAN FRANCISCO—While Meahan San Francisco heavyweight champion, who claims two decisions over Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, has attempted a comeback, after a short retirement, and has left for points beyond the Rocky Mountains to fill four boxing engagements.

LOCAL COURSE RECORD IS LOWERED

Larry Nobholtz broke the golf record at the Shawnee Country Club Saturday morning. His score was 31. This lowered the record by three strokes, the former record being 34. This record was held jointly by Joe Nichols, Dayton and Grange Andes, Cleveland. Nobholtz played an excellent game.

The Russell Cup matches are nearing the finals with four contestants remaining. The semi-finals will be played sometime this week and the finals next week.

In Saturday's matches J. E. Galvin defeated J. H. McGilvray, Kent Hughes defeated Walter Conney, M. C. Newton defeated W. C. Bradley. Guy Bailey defeated Frank Graham early in the week. This leaves these four winners in the contest.

CONSIDERS MATCH

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Jimmy Dunn, manager of Charley O'Connell, Cleveland lightweight, has an offer under consideration for a match between O'Connell and Jack Lawler in Cincinnati on Monday night.

Even against the lightweights when he is pulling his punches, he can hardly restrain himself when he gets them in a corner. Carpenter will need plenty to avoid him and he had better keep in the middle of the ring.

LOOKS BETTER EVERYDAY
Physically, Dempsey is improving every day. His wind is much better than it was when he resumed work and he breathed much more easily Saturday afternoon, when he went at an unusually fast pace for six rounds. However, he still needs some tightening up, and ought to cut down his food and drop a little bit. He's not fat, but "loose."

SPRINGING THE LITTLE FELLOWS, he didn't unhook any of his punches Saturday afternoon. He set himself several times for his left against O'Hare, but he didn't put it over. He hooked Benjamin twice with his right and set the California boy back on his heels, but each time he eased up and left him to recover.

In the 50-yard dash, he lowered the record from 1-5 to 8 4-5. In the 100-yard dash, he equalled his own world record of 9 3-5 seconds. The record for the 110-yard dash was lowered from 10 4-5 seconds to 10 1-5.

DEMPSEY'S ESTATE ONCE CONSISTED BUTTON AND SHIRT

What a difference a few years make!
In 1915 Jack Dempsey fought in Tonopah and Goldfield, Nev. At that time he was living in a cabin in Goldfield, about a mile from the railway station. One night he boxed Johnny Sidenberg. The next morning "Doc" Law, a telegraph operator who lived next door to Jack's humble abode, saw the latter leaving with a big suitcase. "Doc" was in his jumpy bus. Noticing the size of Dempsey's suitcase he said:

"Where are you going?"
"Going to pull out," said Jack.

"Get in and I'll give you a ride," said "Doc." That thing will get away before you get to the depot."

"No, that's all right," replied Dempsey. "It won't get away. All I have in it is a shirt and a collar button."

And today Jack has a flock of trunks, a private limousine and a luxurious limousine. What a difference a few years make!

DEMPSEY LOOKS BETTER THAN HE DID AT TOLEDO

By JACK McALLIFFE.
(Undeclared Lightweight Champion.)

sev turned his attention to speed sev turned his attention to speed sev turned his attention to speed

He is following a good schedule in working out one day with heavyweights and the next with little fellows.

Against the heavyweights he has been showing that he has his fighting machine going well, but he is even a better puncher than he was against Willard.

Against the lightweights Saturday, he showed that he is faster on his feet and quicker with his hands. He had no trouble reaching Edie Cline, Joe Benjamin and Eddie O'Hare, three fast boys who can box.

IMPROVES FOOTWORK
Dempsey is not trying to box with them. He is working to get his wind and improve his footwork. I have noticed particularly what a dangerous man he is in a corner.

SQUABBLE ON PHILLIES STOP REDLEGS VICTORIOUS MARCH

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—"We will call off the fight before we will submit to dictation on the selection of a referee," Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, called Saturday night.

"There will be a New Jersey official in the ring or there will be no fight," said Kearns. Lyons of the state boxing commission, which arrived here unexpectedly Saturday afternoon.

The fact that the commission had come here, however, was accepted as meaning there would be a compromise. Reports were being circulated that an agreement would be reached on "Sinner" Brennan of Jersey City as referee.

The commissioners however maintained that they had only come here on a pleasure trip, and did not intend to talk to Kearns. They declared the referee would not be named before next week.

"All I want is an even break," Kearns said. "I am willing to have a Jersey man for referee, but I want the commission to certify a list of licensed referees. I would be willing to have the name drawn from a hat. In the past the champion has always had something to say about the referee and Dempsey is going to this time."

All that Lyons would add to his statement was that "the commission has the right by law to name the referee."

Will Play Tourenys Under Present Rules

NEW YORK—The 1921 championship tourneys of the United States Golf Association will be played under present rules despite any official action that the association may take regarding the use of rubber club, Secretary W. D. Vanderbilt stated Thursday.

The United States Golf body now awaits official notice from St. Andrews regarding the action of British officials against the use of rubber club. Mr. Vanderbilt declined to indicate what action the U. S. G. A. might take.

Weilman Says Good Hurlers Are Needed

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—There has never been a time when there was such a demand for good pitchers or when so few effective hurlers were to be had, the opinion of Carl Weilman, once a star twirler for the St. Louis Browns and now a scout for that club.

Phillies Stop Redlegs Victorious March

CINCINNATI—After taking four consecutive games, the Reds were stopped in their victorious march Saturday afternoon by Wild Bill Donovan's gang of cellar champs. The score was 3 to 2. Buddy Napier, former Texas league hurler, flung good ball as far as the fourth session when the Phils got to him for a quintet of safeties. These swats combined with poor playing on the part of Ivy Wingo, netted the visitors their five runs. Eller relieved the former Texan in the fourth frame and hurled splendidly until the seventh when he was taken out to allow See to strike for him. Combe finished the struggle. George Smith, going the route, for the Phils allowed the Reds only six hits. These half dozen swats netted the Morannen two scores in the fourth and one in the ninth.

The run which came in the ninth was from the bat of Ivy Wingo who leaning against a Smith special smothered it into the distant right field bleachers for a non-stop flight around the bases. Saturday's game was the second start made by Smith against the Redlegs.

In the fourth, Wingo aided the Phils to score by making a weak attempt to field Kopt's low throw. He also made a poor fizzle at stopping a double steal.

Overland Owners Drive In Contest At Indianapolis

Sixty-Six Cars Compete in Novel
Test to Determine Economy of Famous Automobile

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Claims of high economy in fuel consumption by Overland owners led to a novel owners contest just closed here.

Sixty-six owners of Overland cars entered the test and their records showed a grand average of 26.6 miles to the gallon of gasoline. The winner, James Wilson, of 1424 S. New Jersey st., Indianapolis secured a mileage of 37.2 miles.

Under the terms of the contest the owners brought their cars at hours which best suited them to a central service station where all gasoline was drained from their cars and a special container affixed to a stanchion of the windshield. An observer then got in the car with the owner and the car was driven over a route which took the car into all manner of traffic conditions. All carburetor adjustments and any tuning of the cars for the test were done by the owners.

The first twelve awards in the contest were won by owners who drove more than 30 miles to the gallon.

The results of the contest were watched eagerly by the public and by all owners of light cars as it was demonstrated that with proper care of an Overland this light car could achieve records in the hands of amateurs which a few years ago were considered remarkable when turned in by professional drivers.

The Overland's fame for economy has been based always upon performance. A stock Overland was driven 5452 miles over frozen Indiana roads in 168 hours last year, making an average of 29.24 miles to the gallon even when driven at racing speed.

In the famous run from New York to San Francisco last fall an Overland achieved the average of 27 miles to the gallon.

The Overland won four of the six awards in the 1921 Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run, winning both divisions of the contest.

In a test of the car on the Indianapolis Speedway the Overland ran 1000 miles in less than 24 hours, stopping for driver changes every two hours.

Announcement

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statements:

"Another reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford truck to take effect immediately. The list prices, f. o. b. Detroit, are now as follows:

TOURING CAR	$510.00	CHASSIS	$440.00
RUNABOUT	$465.00	TRUCK-CHASSIS	$565.00
COUPE	$695.00	TRACTOR	$625.00
SEDAN	$760.00

"The above cars include starters and demountable rims with 30x3 1/2 tires and tubes all around. Freight and war taxes are to be added."

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are not getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately."

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars and trucks than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited, not by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities."

"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest months in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4000 car daily schedule for June."

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor."

"Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these low prices? There is no reason why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck, or Fordson tractor."

SUMMER HEAT FAILS TO STOP SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Still Hold Favor of Old and Young and Many Parties are Planned—Informal Functions During Last Week are Enjoyed

(By ROSEMARY CHRISTEN)
Whether or not the present warm weather will be an incentive or a barrier to social functions during this week is a problem yet to be solved. Regardless of the sultry weather which prevailed during the greater part of last week, milady was busily engaged in attending the many pretty social gatherings afforded her. Parties still continue to hold favor with all. Young and old alike seem to heartily enjoy a dainty, appetizing meal, partaken of in some cool, refreshing spot. Many of the clubs and other organizations have celebrated their final meetings of the season by gathering at some nearby appropriate locality and enjoying a picnic lunch. Some few of these popular merry gatherings are scheduled at this time for the week. As an informal courtesy to Miss Norah Mullady, Kenton, bride-elect, Walter Wright, Springfield, Mrs. Wallace King and Mrs. Emmett R. King, Jr., will entertain at the King home in Shawnee, Monday. For the pleasure of the members of her bridal party Miss Audrey Hauenstein, Pandora, will entertain with a 6 o'clock dinner Monday. In compliment to the Class of 1921 of St. John's high school, the members of the Strollers' club will hold a dance at McBeth's. The social season will probably reign in the social realm this week, as many are planning to leave the city for summer resorts and other points of interest for the summer months and in their eagerness and haste in preparation, all thoughts of luncheons, dinners, teas, bridge parties, and other social affairs are forgotten.

A group of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Ada Caskey, W. Vine-st Thursday evening in celebration of her birthday anniversary. At the conclusion of a pleasant evening, enjoyed socially, dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Caskey recently returned from a winter's stay in Redlands and Los Angeles, Cal. Miss Audrey Akerman and her fiancé, Eli Hauenstein, Pandora, were honored guests at an attractively appointed 6 o'clock dinner given at the Elks' Home Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. Will Daniels. A huge basket of lavender and blue larkspur centered the table while lavender candles in crystal holders adorned either end. Nut baskets were dainty lavender affairs and all other appointments were in lavender and blue.

Unusually unique place cards bore the names of the honor guests, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Stueber, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hoover, Mrs. Herbert E. Moore, Boston; Miss Nelle Kriete and the host and hostess.

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock when Miss Mary Catherine Cramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cramer, Michels-ave, Toledo, came the bride of Edgar W. Alligower, Toledo. The wedding took place at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. D. N. Kelly, S. Elizabeth-st and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Bowman acted as attendants.

Complimenting their house guests, Miss Emily Emery and Woodburg Stevens, both of Kennabunkport, M. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wallace, Jean Cook delightfully entertained about 30 guests at their home Thursday evening. Dancing was the diversion of the evening and later a dainty repast was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wemmer and family, W. Market-st, are spending the week-end in Indianapolis, Ind.

The Community Sewing Class will meet as usual on Tuesday in their room at the Chamber of Commerce. Their picnic is planned for Thursday. The class will end its work for the summer at the end of this month.

Hichcock, who won great favor when he appeared before the Women's Music Club several years ago. The couple will spend their honeymoon at an Italian villa to which Mr. Hichcock has lately fallen heir.

The husbands of the members of the B. E. Club were guests at the final meeting of the club, which was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Walcott on Wednesday evening. Progressive euchre was played throughout the evening, Mrs. Herman Evers and Mrs. Homer Evers holding high scores. Plans were made for a club picnic at Lincoln park. At a late hour the hostess served a delicious lunch.

THE LAST ROSE OF SUMMER

By RUPERT HUGHES

Debby had long ago fallen out of the practice of expecting attention from anybody. Tonight she was so grievously wounded that she forgot her custom of squandering the consideration she rarely got back. She said nothing to her elbow neighbor, but sat pondering her own shame and trying to extract some cream from between the spots of salt. A few big tears had welled to her eyelids and dropped into her dish. She blamed herself for the salt. Then she heard her neighbor grumble:

"Say, Debby, is your ice cream all right?"

"Yes, it is," she murmured, fluttering.

"So's mine. Funny thing, there's always salt in the ice cream. Ever notice it?"

"That's so; there usually is a little."

"A lot! That's life, I guess. Poor old Asaph! Plenty of salt in his ice-cream, eh? What's the matter with that wife of his, anyway? Aren't they folks ever happy as married folks ever are?" Debby answered, absently, and then gasped at the horrible philosophy she had uttered.

Meldrum threw her a glance and laughed.

Debby winced. He probably was saying to himself "sour grapes!" At least she thought he would think that. But she had not meant to be foxy. The fox in the table had tried to leap to the grapes before she managed them. Debby had hardly come near enough to them to say that she had failed.

But Meldrum had not thought "sour grapes!" He only remembered that Debby was "Debby." In these returns to childhood circles one rarely knows what has happened between them and now. He remembered Debby as an ugly little brat of a girl, and he saw that she was still homely. But plenty of homely women were married. He proved his ignorance by his next words:

"You married, Debby?"

"No, no," she faltered, without daring even to venture a "not yet." He surprised her shame with a laughing compliment:

"Wise lady! Neither am I. Eh-hah!"

Then she turned on the sofa so that she could see him better. His eyes were twinkling. He was handsome, citified, sleek, comfortable. Yet he had never married!

He was holding out his hand. And because it commanded hers, she put hers in it, and he squeezed her long, fishy fin, in a big, warm, comfortable palm. And she gave her timid, smiling eyes into his big, smiling stare and wondered why she smiled. But she liked it so much that fresh tears rushed to her eyelids—little eager, happy tears that could not have had much salt in them, for one or two of them bounced into her ice-cream. Yet it did not taste bitter now.

Asaph came in then and looked around the room with defiant eyes that dared anybody to be uncomfortable. He recognized Meldrum with a start, and realized that the most important guest had been left to Deb Darrabee, of all people. This mistake might mean ruin to him. His anger changed to anxiety, and he made haste to carry Meldrum away. He was inspired to present him to Pamela.

Deborah, abandoned on the sofa, studied Pamela with wonder. How beautiful the child was! How she drew the men! How their eyes fed upon her! How she quivered in her little court! Everywhere she went it must be so. In Peoria they must have gathered about her just as here. They must be missing her in Peoria now. When she went back they would be glad. Or if she went on to Chicago men would gather about her there—or in Omaha, or Council Bluffs or Toledo—anywhere!

It was manifest enough why the men gathered about the girl. She delighted the senses. She improved the view. She was the view. Suaved, desirableness, cuddlesomeness, kissableness, warmth and all the things that make up loveliness were Pamela's.

The contrast between herself and Pamela was so cruel that Deborah's heart rebelled. She demanded of Heaven: "Why so much to her and none to me?" My mother was as good as her mother and better looking in her day, and my father was a handsome man. Why was I made at all if not well made? Why allowed to live if not fit for life? My elder sister that died was more beautiful than Pamela, but she died. Why couldn't I have died in her place, or take the beauty she laid aside as I wore her cast-off clothes? Yet I live, and I shall never be married, shall never be a mother, shall never be of any use or any beauty. Why? Why?

Bitter were her thoughts as she sat with her plate in her lap. She hardly noticed when Joese took the plate away. She fell into an almost sleep of reverie and woke with a start to find that everybody else was crowding forward to hear Pamela sing. She was repeating "The Last Rose" by request. Mr. Maugans had said he would like another whack at the accompaniment.

Debby felt again that stab of Birdaline's—"Poor, Debby! She never was a rose."

She could not bear to remain. She tiptoed from the dining room unnoticed and went out at the side door, drawing her shawl over her head. She must sneak home alone as usual. Thank heaven, it was only a block and the streets were black.

As she reached the front gate she met a man who had just come down from the porch. It was Meldrum. He peered at her in the dim light of the street lamp and called out:

"That you, Debby? Couldn't you stand it any longer? Neither could I. That girl is a peach to look at, but she can't bring for sour apples; and as for brains, she's a nut, a pure pecan! I guess I'm too old or not old enough to be satisfied with staring at a pretty hide on a pretty frame. Watch way you going? I'll walk along with you if you don't mind."

If she didn't mind! Would Lazarus us object? Dives sat down on the floor beside him and brought along his trencher?

Debby was so bewildered that the sidewalk reeled beneath her intoxicated feet. She stumbled till Meldrum took her hand and set it in the crook of his arm, and she trotted along as meek as Tobias with the angel.

All, all too soon they reached her house. But he paused at the gate. She dared not invite him even to the porch.

If her mother heard a man's voice there she would probably open the window upstairs and shriek, "Murder! Thief! Help!"

So Debby waited at the gate while the almost invisible Meldrum chattered on. She was so afraid that he would go every next minute that she hardly heard what he said. But he had only a hotel room ahead of him. He was used to late hours. He was in a mood for talk. The paralyzed Debby was a perfect listener, and in that intense dark she was as beautiful as Cleopatra would have been.

To her he was solely a voice, a voice of strange cynicisms, yet of strange comfort to her. He was laughing at the people she held in awe. "This town's a joke to me," he said. "It's a side show full of freaks." And he mocked the great folk of the village as if they were yokels. He laughed at their customs. He ridiculed many, many, many things that Debby had believed and suffered from believing. He ridiculed married people and marriage from the superior heights of one who could have married many and rejected all. It was strangely pleasant hearing to her who had observed marriage from the humble depths of one whom all had rejected. He talked till he heard the town clock whine eleven times, then he said:

"Good Lord! I didn't know it was so late. I must have talked your arm off, Debby. I don't get these moods often. It takes a mighty good listener to loosen me up. Good night! Don't let any of these fellows bunco you into marrying 'em. There's nothing in it, Debby. Take it from me. Good night."

She felt rather than saw that he lifted his hat. She felt again his big hand enveloping hers, and she answered his squeeze with a desperate little clench of her own.

He left her, wonderfully uplifted. Now she felt less an exile from marriage than a rebel. She almost convinced herself that she had kept out of matrimony because she was too good for it. The solitary cell of her bed was a queenly dais when she crept into it. She dreamed that General Kitchener asked for her hand and she refused it.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

Cherry was very quiet all during dinner that evening. Several times she drifted off from the conversation and became lost in her own thoughts. Even Jack's usual chatter failed to hold her.

"Penny for your thoughts," teased that irrepressible young man, after his third unsuccessful attempt to draw his sister-in-law into an argument on fishing.

Cherry grinned across the table at this sally, and explained that she had been busy up in the clouds for a moment. She let her eyes travel down to where Ned sat, very straight and proper, by his mother's side, listening with a polite, though weary air, to a long account of some neighbor's marvelous crops. Poor boy, he looked tired. He had changed greatly since his return home. The starch was gone from him and even his voice was spiritless. They worried him at the works, as well as at home. No wonder he sometimes felt snappy. Here Cherry sighed.

"Neddy, dear," she cooed to him, "you do look awfully tired. How just play that there's no such thing as work and dull care tomorrow and come on a fishing trip in the woods with me. Maybe Jack will be our guide?" she finished, beaming invitingly on the round-eyed Jack, now all eager attention.

"Better life I will, if you sure enough want to have me come along, Cherry."

A sparkle came into Ned's eyes as he heard Cherry's suggestion, and realized that he really was a good bit fagged and in need of a break from the daily grind.

"That would be fine, lady-bird. I have been a dull man for you, I know, the past week or so. Get so infernal tired at night that I'm just no good for anything but bed," he finished, turning to his mother.

Mrs. Randall sniffed the gentle little sniff that had so often caused Cherry to wonder, and smiled up at her son.

"Picnics are great inventions. Edward, dear, and I think you should have one, you and Cherry, but have you forgotten that Mr. Johnston asked you to drive over to the Springs tomorrow to look over that property of yours there? Business is business, you know. A man like Mr. Johnston is so fussy about broken appointments, Edward."

Her voice trailed on and on, so it seemed to the young wife sitting scarlet cheeked and dumb, at these joy-wrecking words of her mother-in-law.

At that instant few people would have believed that Cherry could be the same girl, as this silent, lipless, inwardly seething woman, who was at that moment, hating her new mother more than anything else in the world. Deep within her she raged against the conditions that made it necessary for her to have to sit at a table, where a mind so alien to her own and Ned's was to be found and faced. In spite of her inward rebellion, Cherry kept a cool and unruffled exterior, for reasons well known to herself.

Dramas, Comedies, Adventures, Mysteries Make up Offerings at Lima Play Houses

Managers Look to Comfort of Patrons During Sweltering Weather of Present

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
N EARLY every conceivable kind of plot is promised for unfolding in local theatres during the coming week. Dramas, comedies, adventures, Oriental Mysteries, etc., all appear on the week's list of film attractions.

With the coming of the hot weather season, local managers have left nothing undone to assure their patrons of a cool, comfortable interior, and each of the four theatres remaining open are delightfully comfy and breezy, even on the hottest days.

The Faurot's program has three splendid features for the week's to come. Opening today, Bebe Daniels, screenom's "good little bad girl" will be seen in "Ducks and Drakes," a spy little comedy-drama with Miss Bebe in a delightful role.

"Straight is the Way," with Matt Moore and Gladys Leslie, will be seen at the Faurot on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, while the week-end brings "The Bait" with beautiful Hope Hampton as the star. A Sennett fun-film "An Unhappy Finish" accompanies the last-named film.

Ten prominent screen stars will appear at the Sigma theatre during the course of the week. Bert Lytell is featured today and for four days in "A Message from Mars" taken from a well-known stage success while the last three days of the week brings Shirley Mason in "Wing Top." This is the first time Miss Mason has attempted an Oriental role, but it is charming in this characterization.

A new "Snooky" comedy, with the famous human Snooky appears on the Sigma's Sunday program. The Lee kiddies are announced for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Lyric offers patrons a decidedly noteworthy presentation in "The Sin That Was His" in which William Faversham is starred. Mr. Faversham is an English actor of note and his work in "The Sin That Was His" is said to be flawless.

Edith Roberts, Universal star, comes to the Lyric the last three days of the week, appearing in "The Unknown Wife."

The Majestic's program opens today with "So Long Letty," a six-reel Christie comedy with Grace Darmond and Colleen Moore in the leading roles.

The Majestic's Pictures
ONE of the best comedy dramas of the screen is "So Long Letty" which opens a two-day engagement today at the Majestic theatre. It is an adaptation of Oliver Morosco's famous and successful stage play of the same name. Four excellent artists are seen in the leading roles. They are T. Roy Barnes, one of the greatest present-day comedians; Grace Darmond, of serial fame; Colleen Moore and Walter Hairs, two excellent character players.

Scene from "The Sin That Was His" at the Lyric today.

The story of "So Long Letty" has to do with swapping wives, disgruntled husbands, home cooked meals, Paris gowns, cabarets, gingham gowns and sardines. Like-wise, it teaches a wonderful lesson to perpetually dissatisfied individuals.

The Faurot's Pictures
THREE prime pictures will be offered at the Faurot this week, with the usual news, travel and cartoon features and a Mack Sennett comedy thrown in for good measure.

The program for today and Monday is headed by the new Realart comedy, "Ducks and Drakes," which has the highly popular Bebe Daniels for its star. This has registered emphatically as fine hot weather entertainment. It is speedy and genuinely funny. His was an ingenious imagination that conceived the story and his was a clever hand that directed it. Congratulations are coming to author, producer, Miss Daniels and the audiences at the Faurot.

About the story of a reckless flapper and her flitting ways there has been built a noticeably good plot. Imagination has been brought into play delightfully in the manner in which the four men conspire the cure the young lady of flitting, and their plot and her reformation makes a feature of unlimited entertainment value. Pretty Bebe Daniels is alluringly chic and pert in the role of Teddy Sampson and her supporting cast includes such expert players as Jack Holt, William E. Lawrence, Wade Boteler, Edward Martindel and Maym Kelso.

"Straight is the Way," which comes to the Faurot on Tuesday,

Wednesday and Thursday, is a comedy-drama based upon the story, "The Manifestations of Henry Orl," by Edith Watts Mumford. You will probably mark its resemblance to the stage comedy, "Turn to the Right," which certainly is a point in its favor. The cast headed by Matt Moore and Gladys Leslie, two of our most popular players, and others who have important roles are Mabel Bert and George Parsons.

"The Bait," which finishes the week at the Faurot on Friday and Saturday, is a melodrama done up in the most approved style of that master director, Maurice Tourneur. It is an adaptation of Sidney Toler's stage play, "The Tiger Lady" and has the beautiful Hope Hampton for its leading lady. Mack Sennett's latest comedy skit, "The Unhappy Finish" will be an added feature of this program.

The Lyric's Pictures
WILLIAM Faversham, known as America's greatest character actor, crowns a most notable career with his screen presentation of "The Sin That Was His," which opens a four-day run at the Lyric theatre.

Frank L. Packard, who wrote "The Miracle Man" is the author of Mr. Faversham's present vehicle, which gives the star two distinctly different roles to portray, one a notorious gambler, the other a churchman. Each role calls for an entirely different dramatic expression, but Mr. Faversham endows each part with his wonderful talent, and it's a safe bet that after you witness his performance, you'll agree that no actor ever made a dual role more thoroughly varied and at the same consistently natural.

Those of you who have read the story know its remarkable plot and the originality of its telling. Driven from the town where he had made his home because his motives were misunderstood, Faversham as Raymond Chappelle, professional gambler, goes on a mission of good. Arrived at his destination he is again the victim of a misunderstanding, which makes appear that he is a murderer. An intensely dramatic situation develops when the authorities decide that Chappelle, who is impersonating a priest whom he has found injured, is the culprit and plan to hang him.

While ministering to the priest, Chappelle is overcome with the man's great love for humanity, and this, together with the influence of a good woman who has come into his life, a rejuvenation is worked out which in the end brings happiness to all, and eventually a confession from the real murderer.

A wonderful supporting cast, including Lucy Cotton, Little Mishm Bastista, Bobby Connelly and Lulu Warrenton, is seen opposite the versatile Mr. Faversham. If you saw his "The Man Who Lost Himself," you undoubtedly remember him as an artist of the highest calibre. Your liking will be twofold after seeing him in the splendid roles afforded in this popular Packard drama.

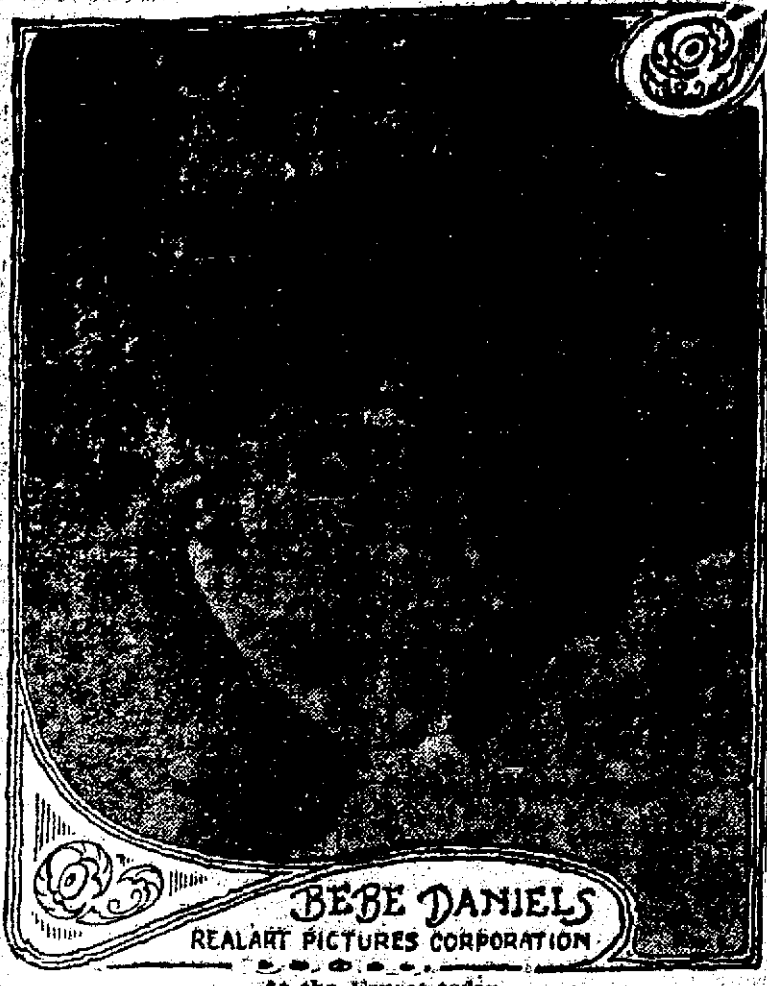

The Sigma's Pictures

BERT Lytell, whose fame on the screen has achieved such tremendous bounds, is seen to advantage in "A Message from Mars" which opens a four day engagement today at the Sigma theatre. Originally a stage production, the story has been transferred to the screen with close attention to detail, with the result that in "A Message from Mars" we have one of the most unique and diverting photoplays of the season.

If you are inclined to be selfish, this production will make you think. It shows us the life of Horace Parker, a wealthy young clubman of London, and something of a scientist and an astronomer. He had no idea he was selfish, even tho he did, on the evening he was to take his fiancée to an entertainment she had looked forward to for weeks, suddenly decide to spend the evening in astronomical study. He put his whim before her pleasure and was forthwith given back his ring. She called him selfish, of course. They always do.

Well, then came the message from Mars. It came as suddenly as a bolt of lightning, and routed Horace from his snug snugness and finally made a man of him. To reveal how it came and what it was, well, that's the story, and even a brief narrative would spoil it all for you when you see it on the screen.

There is just enough of the unique to lend the picture color. It's supporting cast is an excellent one, including as it does Miss Raye Dean and Gordon Ash. The scenery, sets, etc. are sumptuous and Mr. Lytell as the hero is particularly pleasing. With the above feature, "Ladies Pets" a Snooky comedy, will be shown.

Opening on Thursday, Little Shirley Mason is scheduled to appear in "Wing Top". As the title suggests, the story has an Occidental background with Shirley in one of the most pleasing roles of her interesting career. Jane and Katherine Lee are also on the program in "The Hickville Terrors."

The Shannon Players

THE opening presentation of the Harry Shannon Players, scheduled for a week's run at McCullough Park, is to be "Jim's Girl" written by Edward Carroll.

"Jim's Girl" is an ideal offering and gives each and every member of the Shannon aggregation an ideal role. Miss Hazel Shannon, the leading lady, has the role of a little French girl and is said to be charming. Now vaudeville acts will be given between the acts, with a program of excellent music by the Shannon Orchestra.

During their stay in Lima last season the Shannon Co. was well received. Their offerings include only the very latest and best royalty plays. The engagement this year is for one week only, starting on Monday night.

FREE MATINEE AT MAJESTIC

Manager Michael of the Majestic theatre has announced that on Tuesday of this week, from one o'clock until five, a special matinee will be given for every kid in Lima. No admission will be charged not even the war tax.

Boys and girls of Lima have a decidedly good treat in store for them, as the feature attraction scheduled for Tuesday is "The Invisible Bond" in which Irene Castle is starred. No discrimination in children will be shown, every boy and girl in the city being cordially invited to attend, between the hours specified above.

LITTLE Miss Innocence saw no harm in promiscuous telephone flirtations with any pleasant masculine voice that her system of picking random telephone numbers brought on her wire. How could she dream that some of these men knew each other; knew she was flirting with all of them, and were framing up a plot to punish and cure her of her wild habit?

Of course these telephone flirtations led to secret meetings. And first thing she knew, reckless Teddy had more excitement in her young life than she knew how to manage. THEATRE AFFAIRS NOW IN SAD FLIGHT ALONG THE GREAT WHITE WAY

Things at Sixes and Sevens as Slack Season Begins Due to Many Important Factors in Theatrical Business

Belasco and Cohan, Producers, Declare They are Thru Because of "Closed Shop" Edict of Actors' Association

(By FREDERICK F. SCHRADER)

NEW YORK (Special).—With the aberrations prevalent about the time of the summer solstice, theatrical affairs are in an actual mess. It is the interim period when attractions close and other prepare to begin doing business. Things are at sixes and at sevens. Managers are threatening direful things because the stage hands have raised their own pay twenty per cent. and the Actors' Equity is going to introduce the Equity shop system. Theatrical news this week has divided interest with the sensation created in London by Admiral Sims. If one should believe one-half the awful things predicted for next season, the theater would be on the verge of extinction, whereas it is sure to survive even if George M. Cohan should carry out his threat of retiring from the theatrical business and close his fifteen or sixteen shows, and the several out-spoken managers should stick to their announced determination to stop all travelling about the country on account of the high railroad fares, increased overhead charges and the demands of the various unions connected with the business of producing plays.

When the Actors' Equity Association at its recent meeting in this city decided to allow their members to play only with "union" actors, sounds queer doesn't it? Belasco and Cohan declared they were thru, and at this writing, which being the dull season affords leisure for making prophecies and threats, they are sticking valiantly to their determination.

Mr. Cohan is the patron of the Actors' Fidelity League, and the League is the bitter opponent of the Equity, holding that acting is not a trade but an art. The Equity forces decided that the moment had come to introduce the closed shop by way of retaliating upon the Fidelity forces who were enjoying the special favors of the managers, and either bring them into the fold of the union or leave them high and dry when next season's companies are made up. And on that issue Cohan has thrown up the sponge, declaring that he will abandon the side of management and producing altogether, driven out of the business by the perversity of the actors, whose best friend he claims to have always been.

There has been bad blood between the Yankee Doodle comedian and the actors ever since the strike two years ago. Cohan declared then that he was thru and that he would spend $100,000 to defeat the Equity, but when the strike was settled he continued the even tenor of his ways. For that reason he is not taken seriously now.

Allowance is made for his pardonable vanity, which is part of his artistic temperament. Without any special incentive he declared when he heard of the closed shop proposition that he was the best actor in America and that the only actors on the American stage were song and dance men, as it took six weeks to teach the others how to speak a line intelligently.

Before the recent opening of his play, "The Tavern," in Atlantic City, in which he assumed the leading part, following Arnold Daly, he inserted the following card in the local papers: "To the Public: I made a statement that I thought I could play the role of the vagabond in the mystery masterpiece, 'The Tavern' (isn't he modest) better than any actor on earth and I am going to prove it right here in Atlantic City," etc. These unmistakable signs of the prima donna temperament have occasioned a good deal of amusement in theatrical circles where Cohan has always been popular. He is exceedingly charitable and is always performing some kind act which never gets into the papers; and possibly some of his singular sayings and doings are due to the flattery he has received.

Scene from "A Message from Mars", starring Mr. Bert Lytell at the Sigma today.

American conception of the English triangle and then the English conception of the American triangle. The English triangle discussing the situation over a game of whist is especially amusing. The piece is jointly by John Hastings Tuner and Montgomery Flagg, the artist. The dancing and variety acts are up to standard.

The only other opening this week is the new Winter Garden show, "Broadway Whirl," which will receive special attention next week, and the art note of the week is the announcement that Miss Ethel Barrymore will appear in Barrie's "The One-Pound Look" at the Palace vaudeville house.

Following the news that the Japanese crown prince sent James K. Hackett a 5,000 franc note on the occasion of his performance on the "Macbeth" for charity in Paris, the other day, accompanied with a letter expressing the extraordinary joy he felt at having seen him act, comes the news that the divine Sarah at the age of eighty, far from wishing to retire from the stage, is about to appear in a new play by Batulle in her own theater next season. The news was discussed on the Rialto in connection with the rumor that Bernhardt would return to this country late in the fall for another tour. This is denied. It is far more probable that the famous actress will never visit these shores again.

Not to be outdone by the Lambs, the Equity and the Fidelity, the Friars gave their annual frolic at the Manhattan Opera House Sunday evening, presenting a programme that was full of action and enjoyment. Besides a minstrel first act, in which practically all the prominent comedians in town took part, James L. Corbett, interlocutor, the show was made especially interesting by the acting of William A. Brady in two scenes from Dion Boucicault's play, "After Dark," in which Brady starred many years ago. On this occasion his daughter, Alice Brady, assumed the part originally played by her mother, Marie Rene, and her husband, James L. Crane.

unsuspected talent for management and at the death of Charles Frohman he took up many of the Frohman interests. Besides managing the St. James and the Savoy theaters, he has had from time to time since his advent into London management under his direction the Duke of York's Theater, the Garrick, the Globe and the Prince's. It is expected that he will revive the languishing fortunes of the Frohman corporation, and one of the first announcements is that Otis Skinner will be seen in Tom Cushing's dramatization of Ibsen's novel of the bull ring, "Blood and Sand." Miss Barrymore will resume her tour next season in "Declasse," and Ruth Chatterton will be continued in "Marie Rose." Mr. Miller's first production will be "Blood and Sand." He will confer with Skinner and Ibsen in Spain about the production.

When Ina Claire, after her long and successful engagement in "The Gold Diggers," suddenly bolted the cast, something of mystery attached to her desertion of the Belasco staff as the comedy had not completed its New York run, and Gertrude Vanderbilt, all prepared for the task, jumped into the part to keep the play on the boards. The mystery has not been explained, but Miss Claire's next move is now known. She has been engaged by William Harris, Jr., to star in a farce by Alfred Savoir, which has been running successfully in Paris. It is called "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife."

Beyond any other American actress in the domain of light musical or soufflé comic productions, Miss Claire has made a name for herself by combining a touch of delicacy and refinement with the abandon of farce. After a considerable experience in vaudeville from early girlhood, notably in an impersonation of Harry Lauder, she graduated into musical comedy and scored her first substantial hit in "The Quaker Girl." Then, after a few seasons in Ziegfeld's Follies, she was engaged by Belasco, who has an unerring eye for genius, repeated her triumphs in "Folly With a Past" and clinched her fame in "The Gold Diggers." She has gone to Europe for a rest to return in time for the new production. F. F. S.

RULING SETTLES CONTROVERSY

Guyton's Successor May Serve Four Year Term.

PRIMARIES AUGUST NINTH

Petitions Must Be Filed Before July Ninth.

Whoever is elected Justice of the Peace, next November, will hold the job for a term of four years, according to information received from Harvey C. Smith, Secretary of State, by the Election Board, Saturday. The ruling sustained an opinion, rendered by Prosecutor Eugene Lippincott, which was to the effect that the term of Justice Guyton, present incumbent, expires at the coming election.

In order to settle the future status of such cases, the election board addressed a letter to Secretary Smith, a week ago, requesting information. His answer, in effect, settles the case, but not entirely so, J. M. Madigan, chairman of the board stated. Additional information is requested.

A ruling regarding the placing of names of candidates for the board of education on the large ballot was also requested. Hitherto the names have gone on a special ballot. This was because the office was the only one for which women were allowed to vote.

Now all is changed and the women's votes count with those of their husbands, fathers and brothers. The law is still the same, however. The board sought permission to place the names on the regular ballot, as it would save expense, and be more convenient to the voters.

The answer indicates that the question was not properly understood, and no decision will be made until another ruling is obtained.

Election day will be held August 9. The polls will be open from 5:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Registration day will occur some time in July, the date not having as yet been determined. July 9 will be the last day for filing petitions for all offices outside of Delphos and Lima, and for city commission in Lima.

LIQUOR VIOLATORS INCREASING

Number In Ohio Larger Since Layoff of Officers.

COLUMBUS—Liquor violators in Ohio have taken advantage of the layoff of enforcement officers, it was said Saturday by James A. Shearer, federal prohibition director for Ohio. The increase in violations has been general, he said, the only form of violation showing a decrease being the transportation of liquor by auto truck.

"Prohibition can only be enforced when there are a reasonable number of officers provided," Mr. Shearer said. "Enforcement was becoming increasingly effective up until the time the force was reduced because of lack of funds."

Scores of applications for permits to withdraw or handle liquor have been pigeon-holed at headquarters here, because there are not officers to make an investigation of the applicant. It has been the practice of the prohibition director to have a careful investigation made of every person applying for a permit.

Mr. Shearer's successor probably will appoint an entirely new staff of officers, as none is under civil service. The officers are to resume their jobs July 1.

RABBIT BREEDERS TO MEET. Members of the Lima Rabbit Breeders' association, of which there are more than 100 in the city, will hold their regular meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Monday night. E. A. Einsien, secretary requests a large attendance.

CUPP ESTATE INCOME TO GO TO WIDOW; DISPOSAL OF PROPERTY ARRANGED

Rents, income and profits from the $75,000 estate of the late Henry Cupp, Monroe-ti farmer, who died a week ago, were left to his widow, according to provisions of his will, probated in court Saturday. The property consists of $59,000 in real estate. Mrs. Cupp was decreed the household goods and furniture in their home, located on a 40-acre tract of land in Monroe-ti. Cupp ordered that after the death of his wife, one of his sons, Walter J. Cupp or Henry Clay Cupp, take the 40-acre tract at the appraised value and also a strip of 20 acres, located nearby. If they do not wish it, Cupp asks some of the children to purchase the land. Otherwise, sale may be made to strangers, the will says.

The land is also to be divided into tracts and if the children do not desire to purchase the property, the will decrees it shall be sold and the proceeds be divided, share and share alike, among the seven children. J. Orin Cupp, a son, was named executor. D. C. Campbell, Orin Marshall and Warren Reed Mayberry were appointed appraisers. The will was executed on September 17, last.

GAS FRANCHISE WILL NOT BE READ MONDAY NIGHT

The proposed franchise, to replace the contract existing between the city of Lima and the Lima Natural Gas company, which was introduced in council and given its first reading two weeks ago, will not be brought up Monday, according to representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and council.

Prior to the last regular meeting of the council to read the franchise there was a split among members of the council to read the franchise thru by suspending the rules and placing it on final reading.

BATHING, BOATING AT PARK, PLAN

Commission Hopes to Make Fine Beach Possible.

Among the plans for the future which the park commission have under discussion is creation of a bathing beach and lagoon for boating at Fairport park, according to Frank E. Harmon, chairman of the commission, who has discussed the establishment of the beach with Mayor Burkhardt and members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Construction of a beach will be a boon to residents of Lima on hot summer days, as the only place where bathing can now be enjoyed is at McCullough's Lake, which is privately owned.

A few things stand in the way of the early construction of the bathing beach, however.

One is the filthy condition of the waters of the Ottawa river. Another is the lack of funds. The first condition, the commission hopes will be remedied when the intercepting sewer system is completed and in operation two years hence, and it is hoped to secure money to build the beach by that time.

LOOK HERE, GIRLS!

Wealthy Man Wants Lima Girl For His Bride

Girls, here's your chance to get a man.

A wealthy Brighton, Pa., manufacturer, has written Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt requesting him to give him the names of a number of Lima maidens, not too old, and who are of good character and have kind and loving dispositions. His object, according to the letter, is matrimony.

Mayor Burkhardt was at a loss to know what to do when he read themissive, but finally decided to submit the letter to his wife.

The applicant for consubial bliss states that he is vice-president of a half million dollar concern, and is sufficiently well to do to give the lucky girl everything her little heart desires.

His reason for selecting Lima to seek a bride, is because he has heard of the comely, and worthy girls here.

CHANGE MINDS

Paving of Elm-st May Cause Split, Officials Believe.

Threatened war over the laying of a new pavement, may disrupt the neighborhood in W. Elm-st between Collect-st and Garfield-ave.

In response to a petition signed by realty owners, council recently enacted legislation authorizing new paving. Bids were opened on five streets by the city on Monday, Elm-st being included. When the residents saw prices submitted by contractors, some of them lost heart, it is alleged. While none of the residents on the street admit that they are now opposing paving, a number have called at the city hall to protest on the excessive cost.

Director Elmer McClain has invited all interested persons to attend a hearing Tuesday to determine what sort of material will be used. The contract will be let to some one of four bidders, he states, unless 75 percent of the real estate owners along the street notify him in writing they have changed their minds.

Simon Fisher, 312 W. Elm-st, leader in movement to secure re-paving, stated Saturday that the improvement will go thru despite opposition.

Studying Diamonds

BY J. W. PUETZ

As the diamonds called Rivers, Jagers and Wesseltone are extremely high priced, most people are more interested in the next class which are the "Crystals." These are the "fine white" or "blue white" stones, sold by the retailer. However, many jewelers use this name to describe stones much less fine than standard crystals. The tint in Crystals is yellow and is sufficiently discernible to be readily noted by the experienced eye or when compared by the inexperienced person to rock crystal. Faced up, however, the Crystals appear white and they are highly desirable stones—so desirable, in fact, that they represent about the best stones that the general public can afford to buy.

After the two grades of Crystals, the finest of which are the "top" Crystals, come the very light brown stones. The stones have such a small percentage of brown color that they do not absorb the light like the less desirable brown stones. They are very lively and beautiful and as most people expect to find color in stones they are much more readily sold than those more perceptibly tinted with yellow.

Those called Silver Capes are next in value; these are subdivided into Top Silver Capes and Silver Capes. The amount of yellow in these stones is so perceptible that a well-trained eye can detect it even when faced up and mounted. Yet, probably more stones of this grade are sold in this country than those of the higher classes. They are not too expensive for the general public, yet they are not yellow enough to be criticized, except upon close inspection or by direct comparison with the finer classes.

It is the jeweler who tells the truth about stones, who wins your confidence and ultimate business. Buy with confidence!

II--LISTING INEZ AS A JOKE

IT'S a contract, I'll tell the judge. What I mean, if you don't get me, is this job I've tackled of towing an over-weight Swede girl around New York and giving her what she wants when she wants it. But I've made a swell start, I'll hand myself that much.

"Come, Inez," says I, bright and early the first morning after we landed, "while we're waiting for that rich Uncle Nels of yours to have it revealed to him in a dream that his favorite niece is waiting to be discovered, we had better horn in on some line of industry."

Inez peels the paper off two slabs of gum, tucks 'em in between a dental display that would give joy to a tooth powder firm, gets the jaw action going rhythmical, and then pauses long enough to ask: "You no think we find Uncle Nels quick?"

"No, Inez," says I. "Not with any great suddenness. Considering the fact that he's traveling incog, as it were, and that you wouldn't know him if you met him face to face, the chances are dead against any prompt reunion of the Petersen family."

Inez blinks vivacious, like an eclipse passing over the moon, and then offers this: "Uncle Nels, he had whiskers."

"That's good as far as it goes," says I. "But I have a hunch, Inez, that if you started in to take a whisker census of this town you'd get some discouraged before you finished. Besides, how do you know that this set Uncle Nels wore when you were a cute little girl were the permanent kind? Maybe he had 'em amputated when he changed his name. Is that all you can remember about him?"

Inez admits that's the whole story. "Then while I'm thinking up a way of paying an anonymous uncle," says I. "I'm afraid we must connect with regular pay envelopes somewhere, for the gold reserve in the Little Thread National is running low and Mrs. Welby isn't going to let us have her fourth floor back just for the sake of being entertained by your brilliant repartee."

"We gotta job? All right," says Inez, chanting it cheerful.

"I hope so," says I. "Let's take a look."

So we wander out to where Broadway gets itself lost in Columbus Circle and drifts along where the traffic would let us. Our first stop is in front of one of these lunch joints, where they had a pancake artist browning the wheats within eighteen inches of our noses and whole rows of tables where late breakfasts were being served.

"How about this?" says I. "We know how to deal 'em off the arm and tell the urn man whether to draw 'em black or half-and-half. Shall we brace the boss for a chance on the day shift?"

She's just as impetuous, Inez, as a way freight on an upgrade with sleet on the rails. After about the tenth yank on the gum her upper lip starts lifting a little and by watching her eyes I can see that she's sizing up one of the waitresses. You couldn't blame her. All that cerise hair would have been startling enough if it had been done plain, but twisted and matted the way it was, it sure was an eye-fall. And the face under it was a hard face.

"I not like that one," says Inez. "She—she's stuck up."

"Something like that, anyway," says I. "No, I don't think she'd be a matey person to work with. Besides, this looks to me like a bunch of non-hippers. Let's move."

We must be an impressive pair, or words to that effect. Anyway, a lot of folks who seemed in a hurry to get somewhere took time enough off to turn for a second look. Maybe it was that bargain sale blouse which Inez was sporting in honor of the occasion. Kind of a vivid taste Miss Petersen has, when it comes to dress goods, and while I do my best to keep her color scheme toned down, there's no-holding her if a shirtwaist strikes her fancy. This one was a Harry Lander plaid, mostly greens and reds, and it should have been presented to a Siwash squaw to wear at the annual spring potlach or some such festive occasion. At least, it shouldn't have been worn with an Alice blue skirt by an ash blonde with a 38 bust measure. Not on upper Broadway, I could tell that just by the way some of those young ladies held their mouths when they passed us.

Not that I'm any mirror of fashion myself. But generally I stick to a rusty brown homespun effect that doesn't point the finger of scorn at any cinnamon hair and face frockies, and while I may not be any October symphony I kid myself that most people will forgive me for being sota. And my blond friend is Miss comely if I'm modest about it. So Inez Petersen, who came with me, now you ought to have the picture.

"I suppose you haven't any definite ideas, Inez," says I, "as to what kind of a position you'd care to accept?"

"Me?" says Inez. "No."

"That's helpful," says I.

But it wasn't two minutes later before she has stopped with her mouth open. "Look," says she.

"Pretty? Yes?"

I steered her over to the edge of the sidewalk so I could get a good

We always travel double, too. But listen, Mr. Popper-whosit: we're not half so comical as we may look. These are our Superior Street costumes that we haven't had time to change. Give us a chance to get into some snowy white uniforms and we'll be different parties. We're expert, both drink jugglers, too. Nearly a year in Drott's, which is the classiest ice cream parlor between Chicago and the North Pole. No mistakes in course, there's a good deal of her. It's fairly well distributed, though. And that strawb'ry-and-vanilla-mixed complexion of hers helps some.

"I must say, Inez," I tell her, "you do fit in well with the background. Like you belonged. A regular queen of the booth, you are."

"Yes-s-s?" says she, smiling.

"Me?" says I. "Oh, sure! I'm a regular home wrecker, Inez. That is, I might be if it wasn't for my plain features and my up and down figure and the green gooseberry eyes. Outside of those few items I'm a perfect

was almost as hectic a pastime as dealing out cold drinks on Broadway, and that you could go on doing either for a long time without getting mixed up in what a movie director would call a big punch scene. But I didn't, I just smiled to think how simple she was in the head."

Never again, though. Listing Inez as a joke is a poor punch. For look! Well, it wasn't over two days later that we took a little after-supper stroll, just to get the air and make us tired enough to forget the lumps in the mattress when we finally got to the cots. Of course we'd had the usual debate over it first.

"By Eight Avenue," suggests Inez, "is a Mr. Bill Hart show?"

"Please, Inez," says I. "Not to-night. If you know how little I cared for that man. Gosh! Say, I'll bet for an hour and a half he'll spring that grin of his, and climb up the front of fake palaces, and push the villain off a roof, and work up the final fade-out where he goes to a tight clinch with the Princess of Angostura. Then there'll be a news reel showing how they laid the cornerstone of the new Masonic temple at Belleville, N. Y., and a glimpse of President Harding taking the oath of office, and a few hundred feet of film depicting the cute antics of a horse-fly feeding her young. Have a heart, Inez. Besides, you know we agreed that every other night was about all our finances would stand."

Inez can't deny it, but she sulks for the next ten minutes until she decides to console herself by combining two slabs of wintergreen flavor with one of pepsin; after which she pins on her hat and allows me to lead her east across Broadway and away from the lure of the silver screen. And it wasn't long before I had her interested in our favorite game of picking out a troupeau from the shop windows. We're reckless that way. Especially Inez. Her taste seems to run to cloth of gold evening gowns and ermine capes with lots of real tails on them. Also three-inch dinner rings and long pearl ropes. I've often wondered how she would really look in such an outfit if by any miracle she could ever get one on. I suspect she'd have the Queen of Sheba looking like a country dressmaker tackling the Monday wash.

"And all day," Inez announces, "I ride up and down in limousine."

"Oh, quite so," says I. "That's part of the picture."

"Then for dinner," adds Inez, "big steak with plenty fried onions. Lotta cream puffs, too."

"Now you have done it," says I. "You've made me so hungry that nothing but a swifter sandwich and half of a fat dill pickle will bring peace to my tortured soul. And I think there's a delicatessen store back on Sixth Avenue in the block below this. Come."

But Inez wasn't to be hurried away from a window where a beaded evening gown hung twinkly and shimmy against a background of black velvet.

Well, then, says I, "you drift along as far as the next corner while I dash around and lay in supplies before they close up. I'll be back here inside of five minutes. You'll be all right, won't you?"

"Me?" says Inez. "Sure!"

Those stores are seldom just where you think they are, though. This one had dodged two blocks out of the way. And the old fraud with the dried apple face and the sage green wig certainly took her time about making up those cheese sandwiches. Forgot to put on the mustard until after she had 'em all wrapped up, at that.

So it must have been nearly fifteen minutes before I came scurrying up to the window where the beaded gown was still hanging. But no Inez was in sight, either up or down the avenue, and Inez is visible at quite a distance, you know, even in a crowd. By the time I had walked two blocks up and one down without finding her I suppose I was a little panicky. Anyway, what I said to that bone-headed chauffeur watchman who was guarding a pile of bricks and sand wasn't particularly sane.

"You haven't seen my friend Inez, have you?" I asked.

"Which?" says he, through a corn-cob pipe.

"Big Swede girl with yellow hair?" I adds.

"Oh, that one?" says he. "She ducked across the street, over there, just missed gettin' bumped by a taxi. Red feathers on her hat."

"That's Inez," says I, and darts in the direction he was pointing his thumb.

I could see a house front that was well lighted and a sidewalk canopy set up. Somebody having an engagement, or announcing an engagement, or going away. That would be enough for her. I should have to talk to Inez again about the danger of trying to rush across Fifth Avenue in her fashion, without waiting for the traffic light.

About wandering alone, too, at this hour of the night.

I had gone nearly to the middle of this side street and was almost opposite the canopied entrance, looking into every doorway in the hope of finding Inez staring out from behind a shadow, when I noticed this little group of folks that seem to be milling around so odd and senseless.

I caught a glimpse of a podgy little man in evening clothes who was hopping about on his toes as if he was trying to jump into his silk hat game of picking out a troupeau from the shop windows. We're reckless that way. Especially Inez. Her taste seems to run to cloth of gold evening gowns and ermine capes with lots of real tails on them. Also three-inch dinner rings and long pearl ropes. "Say," growls the youth, "who asked you to crash in on this?"

"Nobody, Dearie," says I. "Don't you know a surprise party when you see one?"

view of what had worked her up that way. And what do you guess? It's a white tiled hole-in-the-wall where they sell this orangeade drink. You know. On the white counter is a big glass dish full of the stuff, with sliced fruit floating temptingly and a couple of dozen real oranges piled convincingly around. The pimply-faced young gent in charge has just struggled into a dirty white duck coat and is inspecting himself approving in the mirror that forms the back of the establishment.

"Very neat and tasty," says I. "But he doesn't seem rushed with trade and I see no 'Help Wanted' sign out."

So we walks on a few blocks. But when Inez gets a notion running on that single track mind of hers nothing but a burning bridge ahead will get her to switch.

"It would be swell," says she, "in that white place."

And I had to explain all over again why I thought the youth with the pimply face didn't yearn for our help. What you really need, though, to register a thought with Inez, is to lock her up in a room with a non-stop record that will repeat without going hoarse.

"We've got white clothes, too," insists Inez.

"We have," says I. "Come along back."

And we found the orangeade place livelier than when we had first seen it. A short, stubby man with crinkly black hair had somehow got himself in behind the counter, too, and he was shaking his first menacing at the young gent in the near-white coat. He was telling him things.

"Loafers!" says he. "Twice you are late this week. I catch you again this morning. Yes! And when you come what you do, mug in the glass. For two cents I give you the chuck out."

"Here's the two," says I, stepping in and shoving a couple of pennies across the counter.

"Hey!" says he, staring at me.

"It's your proposition," says I. "I'm willing to finance it, too."

"Say," growls the youth, "who told you to crash in on this?"

"Nobody, Dearie," says I. "Don't you know a surprise party when you see one?"

"Some fresh Jane, I'll say," he snarls. "Eh, Mr. Popogoulis?"

"What you want, you?" demands the other.

"Now we're getting down to brass tacks, Mister," says I. "My great little idea was to boost along the vacancy so we could fill it for you, Inez and me. I mean, this is Inez, browning on her gum. She may not look so ambitious, but she's confided in me that a career as dispenser of orangeade would suit her exactly. She'd be a wonder at it. Only you'd have to take the pair of us. Well, is it a trade?"

At which Pimple Face snickers. "Look at the freaks that wants to do me out of my job, Popogoulis," says he. "Oh, say!"

And Popogoulis looks. "Would I want a viddy-ville sketch team in here?" he asks. "Say, who are you, anyway?"

"Sorry I haven't my card case along," says I. "But I'm Trilby May Dodge, just in from Duluth, Minn."

And my blond friend is Miss comely if I'm modest about it. So Inez Petersen, who came with me, orders, no funny work with the cash register. Oh, we're good, Mister."

"Huh!" says he. "You say it easy."

Which is where Pimple Face tries to crowd his luck. Thought he had the boss on a leash, I expect. "Go to it, if you think this pair of female hicks could do better than me and Mike," says he. "Help yourself."

"So-o-o?" says Popogoulis, looking him over cool. "Thanks for nothing." Then he turns to me. "How much you want?" he asks.

"We'll talk about that when you've checked up sales after the first week," says I.

That brings a satisfied grunt out of him. "When you could go on the job, eh?" he demands.

"Give us twenty minutes for a quick shift and we'll be ready," says I. Popogoulis may be no mental speed artist as a rule, but this seems to be his day for prompt action. "All right," says he, and whirls on the youth. "Take it off," he tells him.

"Eh?" says the other.

"You're fired," says Popogoulis. "Get out."

He got. And naturally he doesn't ask me to kiss him good-bye. "You fish-eyed Moll," says he. "I'll queer you for this."

"Oh, chuck up, Buddy," says I. "Any blood purifier firm would be glad to use that face of yours as a before taking ad. Try 'em out."

So that's how we happened to land in No. 47 of the orangeade chain and got started as a pair of Hebes of the Golden Bowl. Seemed a little odd at first, with so many folks staring in at us at such close range. And for the first day or so, with all this white fling around, I couldn't get over the idea that we had been dropped into a bath room with the front out. But it's odd how soon you can get used to anything, isn't it? By the middle of the week I felt as though I'd always been there, began to get a line on most of the regular customers, and could ladle out the thirst quenchers as fast as they shoved in their nickels.

As for Inez, she was contented as a lady Holstein resting in the shade at noon. Wasn't there a movie show three doors above and another two blocks down the street? And couldn't she look out to the Circle and see a constant parade of taxicabs and limousines, not to mention Fifth Avenue buses and eight-seeing charlotts? And who knows what chams of romance she could read in every one of them?

During the dull spells I would watch Inez curious, as she stood there with her elbows on the counter, gazing out that way and yanking her gum slow and placid. She isn't so hard to look at, you know, especially in that near-nurse's costume with the white straps over her wide shoulders and the little white cap pinned on top of all that pile of braided wheat-colored hair, and her white throat showing up strong and round, like a marble pillar in front of a bank. Or vamp. I'm glad you noticed it. Nobody else has up to date. Just for that I'll spell you while you slip out for an early lunch."

Then I began to wonder if this career as a modern Ruth at the well of orangeade was going to satisfy her yearning for adventure, such as she'd sketched out to me when I discovered that she had a moving picture mind. Once I put it up to her.

"Now you have done it," says I. "You've made me so hungry that nothing but a swifter sandwich and half of a fat dill pickle will bring peace to my tortured soul. And I think there's a delicatessen store back on Sixth Avenue in the block below this. Come."

RULES LAID DOWN FOR TEACHERS

State Department of Public Institution Gives Schedule.

MUST TAKE EXAMINATIONS

Certain Work Necessary Before Certificates Are Issued.

COLUMBUS

Temporary teaching certificates, which probably will be sought after by many of this year's high school and college graduates, cannot be secured until after certain conditions are met, it is pointed out by the state department of public instruction. The following schedule of minimum conditions necessary to be met, probably will be interesting to many graduates:

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS

For temporary elementary certificates: (a) two years of high school training and (b) Class A normal training consisting of three semester hours of psychology and principles of teaching or either of them; of three divided between arithmetic and English, including methods; one or school management; one of any form of school arts; a total of at least 10 semester hours and (c) success in examination covering topics in a syllabus prepared by the department of public instruction.

In the case of one who began to teach before Sept. 1920, and who is recommended by the county examiners the high school requirements may be waived. Any 24 hours of normal work will be considered equivalent of Class A normal training, but not less than a full year of college work (not normal) will be considered.

A temporary certificate shall not be issued without examination unless the teacher was unavoidably absent from examinations.

HIGH SCHOOL

For temporary high school certificates: (a) four years of high school training, and (b) one year of college work, or the equivalent determined by the department of public instruction, and success in an examination in English, principles of teaching and the subjects to be taught or five high school subjects.

For temporary special certificates: (a) two years of high school training, (b) six weeks of normal work, and one-half a year full time of advanced or professional study of the special subject, or one year full time of such advanced or professional study of the special subject, two years of experience in the profession or trade allied to the special subject.

Equivalents of high school work will be allowed for trade preparation by the department of public instruction's approval.

13,578 WOMEN MARRIED IN CALIFORNIA IN 1920 UNDER AGE OF TWENTY

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—There were ten California brides married in 1920 under fifteen years of age and one eleven years of age, according to the annual report of the State Board of Health dealing with marital relationships.

The tendency of women to marry much earlier than men is commented upon, it being shown that there were 13,578 brides in 1920 between the ages of fifteen and twenty years, while only 1,199 men in the same period of life journeyed to the marriage altar.

The greater number of women, however, marry between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five years. 14,357 of that class having married here in 1920. Men also favor the five-year period immediately after they have reached their majority for selecting their life partners. A total of 10,254 men married last year between these ages.

The State report declares that nearly twice as many men marry after they are past forty-five years of age as women. Only 2,130 women embarked on the matrimonial craft after reaching forty-five years of age, while 4,155 men found mates after that age.

MILK PRICES SLASHED

POSTORIA, O.—A milk war enables citizens of this city to procure milk at six cents a quart, or four cents a pint. A milk depot cut the price from eleven cents and several grocers have met the cut. This is practically the price dealers pay the farmer, it is said.

ACCEPT WAGE CUT

CINCINNATI—Firemen and certain other employees, whose contracts with the Cincinnati Traction Company expired May 1, will accept wage reductions ranging from 10 to 12 1/2 per cent as a result of the agreement reached by an arbitration board. The company had notified the men that a cut of 15 per cent would be made. The firemen's wages will be cut from 67 cents to 60 cents an hour.

BRINGING UP FATHER

© 1921 BY INT'L FEATURE SERVICE, INC.

SHORT SHAVINGS

A small boy was taken to see the new baby, whom he eyed very critically.

"Why, he's got no hair, father," was his first remark.

The fact was admitted.

"And he's got no teeth, father," was the next comment.

The circumstances could not be denied.

"I tell you what, father," was the final observation, "you've been swindled; he's an old 'un!"

In the casual camp at St. Aignan one outfit of colored Yanks was used exclusively in the pick and shovels brigade. Hence the following conversation at mess:

"Man, what y'all doing eatin' bean soup wid a fork?"

"Big boy. Ah hates mah shov!"

so bad Ah done throwed away mah spoon."

Her chief object was to make a fool of the latest fashionable philosopher. "Tell me," she cooed, "don't you find it a little difficult sometimes to write all those hard things about women?"

The philosopher regarded her with impartial eyes. "There is a certain difficulty, madam," he replied; "but it is purely one of selection."

"Father," said a little boy thoughtfully, as he watched his parent collect his notes and arrange the slides for a parish entertainment, "why is it that when you spend your holiday in the Holy Land you always give a lantern lecture on it? You never do when you have been to Paris!"

INGROWN NAIL

Toughen Skin and Toe Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store, a tiny bottle containing direction.—Adv.

"It Pays to Buy the Best"

Many Folks are Convinced of this Fact

Dear Madam:

People have found that we serve quality goods. We have built up our grocery business on the principle that people know what they want and they are entitled to get it. If you ask for an advertised article in this store and it is a meritorious one, you can get it. If you ask our opinion as to what is the best in a certain line, we tell you to the best of our judgment, but never try to induce a customer to buy "something just as good" just because we are out of this particular article. We aim to have what you want of quality.

If you are interested to have the best groceries, meats, dairy products at the right prices and always delivered promptly—just leave your 'phone orders at Thomas's.
